Burns T. Walling, Famous Navy Man, Dies in West

COMMANDER, 83,
LEAVES WIDOW,
TWO DAUGHTERS

Life Of Service For Uncle
Sam Ends; Two Brothers
Precede In Death

Word has been received in Circleville of the death at his home in San Diego, Cal., Thursday, of Commander Burns T. Walling, 83, a resident of Circleville for many years. Mr. Walling, who was rated as one of the nation's outstanding navy men, had resided in California since early in 1900. His last visit to Pickaway county was in World War days when he attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Ansel T. Walling.

Funeral services will be held in the West coast city where Mr. Walling is survived by his widow, Wilhelmina Boyd Walling, and two daughters, Grace and Bernice, both wives of lieutenants in the United States navy. His only survivor is a sister, Mrs. Isabelle Heffner, Kenova, W. Va. Two brothers, Stuart and Percy A., preceded him in death. Mrs. Mabel Walling, W. Mound street, is a sister-in-law.

Called From Retirement
Commander Walling retired from active naval service in about 1908 after he had suffered a knee injury. He could have become an admiral within a year or two after his injury, but he declined, desiring to retire as a commander rather than to re-enter the service. Despite his retirement he was called from his California home to Boston during the World War to supervise all electrical equipment being placed in Uncle Sam's ships. After the war he returned to California.

Mr. Walling, born Feb. 4, 1855 in Coshocton, O., son of Ansel T. and Sarah Burns Walling, came to Circleville at the age of eight with his parents. His appointment to the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis was gained by Philadelphia Van Trump of Lancaster who represented the Ohio congressional district, on June 5, 1872 when Mr. Walling was 17. In June, 1876, he was graduated as midshipman from the Naval academy, standing fourth in his class of 42.

Ensign In 1877
In December, 1876, Midshipman Walling joined the U.S.S. Vandalia, stationed in the Mediterranean, and remained attached to the vessel until she was put out of commission in January, 1879, having become an ensign in 1877. June, 1879, saw him on the U.S.S. Powhatan, flagship of the North Atlantic squadron. He remained on this ship until June, 1881, five

Little Boy's Skull Split, Wedged In Two Sections To Permit Brain Growth

WASHINGTON, May 14—(UP)—A two and one-half year-old boy rested comfortably in Children's hospital today after surgeons had split his skull and wedged the two sections apart to permit the brain to grow to normal size.

The operation—extremely delicate and rare—was performed in an effort to save the child from life-long idiocy. He is a victim of microcephaly—"little brain."

The boy is Alden Vorrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vorrath. He is their only child and has suffered from microcephaly since infancy. He will be kept under constant care for six months during which time the two sections of his skull will be held apart by metal wedges. Not until next November will surgeons be able to determine whether the operation has been a success.

DOWNPOUR AIDS CROP OUTLOOK

Third Of Inch Recorded In Friday Night Rain; Warm Weather Expected

Warmer temperatures and one third of an inch of rainfall Friday night boosted the hopes of Pickaway county farmers for bumper crops this year.

The rain was the first soaking one since early in April. Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather recorder, said in the last month rainfall had amounted to only .17 of an inch. Farm work was delayed by the dry weather. Some farmers have not completed their plowing due to the dry weather. Others found it impossible to work up their fields into planting condition because of the hard clods.

Wheat and peas were badly in need of rain. Farmers hoped cloudy skies Saturday would bring more soaking showers.

The lowest temperature Friday night was 45 degrees, 10 degrees above the recordings on Wednesday and Thursday nights when frosts killed garden crops. The highest temperature Friday was 66 degrees.

Showers were scheduled for late Saturday afternoon and evening. Warmer weather was predicted for Sunday.

POLICE TO GET OFFICE ROOM IN CITY BUILDING

Plans to provide more room for the police department were announced Saturday by Mayor W. B. Cady.

The W. P. A. office, located on the first floor of the city building in the room formerly used as a courtroom, was being moved to the second floor to the office formerly used by the National Re-employment service.

The room being vacated by W. P. A. will be used as police headquarters, with a desk for the officer on duty, one for the chief of police and another for the mayor. Plans are to use the present police headquarters as a search room for prisoners and a locker room for officers.

For some time the mayor has been considering more space for the police headquarters. The small room used for headquarters made it difficult to hold trials and was inconvenient for members of the department.

Mayor Cady expects to ask city council for an appropriation of about $100 to install a railing and counter in the new headquarters.

VIOLATORS OF TRAFFIC REGULATIONS FACE CADY

Three traffic cases were reported Saturday by Mayor W. B. Cady. Herbert Chamberlain of McArthur posted $30 bond Friday to appear on May 19 at 2 p. m. on a reckless driving charge. Russell Jones, Tarleton, and Howard E. Klages, Columbus, posted $3 each. Jones was charged with parking a truck over 18 feet in length in the downtown district; Klages with running a red traffic light.

PICKENS LOOMS AS DEMOCRATIC CHIEF IN STATE

Davey's Campaign Manager May Succeed Poulson After Primary

GOELLER AT CONFERENCE

All County Chairmen Called By Governor

Ferd M. Pickens, Circleville native who became Governor Martin L. Davey's right hand man in his race for re-election, today loomed as probably the No. 1 contender for the position as Democratic state chairman to be left vacant by Francis Poulson after the primary election.

Pickens, who resigned his $5,000 position as business administrator of the Division of Aid for the Aged to become Davey's manager, has established "Davey for Governor" headquarters in the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Poulson revealed Friday that he intends to retire after the primary regardless of who is successful in the voting. Poulson is given credit for building up one of the most powerful organizations Ohio has ever had. Davey and Poulson deny there is any rift between them despite rumors to the contrary.

Goeller at Meeting

Lawrence Goeller, chairman of the Pickaway county Democratic executive committee, was in Columbus Saturday attending a meeting at Davey's home. Chairmen of all Ohio counties were attending the session. It was not known whether the selection of a successor to Poulson would be considered. The meeting of the county chairmen was regarded as evidence of further intensifying of the governor's campaign for renomination.

Pickens has taken an active part in numerous state activities since taking over the business administration post. He was leader in the "draft Davey" movement in which petitions were circulated by state workers in an effort to obtain sufficient names to induce the governor to run again. Two weeks ago Mrs. Margaret Allman, welfare director, and Pickens' immediate superior, said that he had been taken off civil service lists, in accordance with law, to permit him to devote more time to the campaign.

LAUDER, FAMOUS AS ENTERTAINER, INJURED IN FALL

GLASGOW, May 14—(UP)—Sir Harry Lauder, 67, world famous music hall and vaudeville comedian, suffered an accident at his residence, Lauder Hall, at Strathavon today and was brought to Glasgow by ambulance for an X-ray examination.

It was reported that he had suffered a fractured thigh and facial injuries, and it was said that he had been injured when he slipped on stairs in his home.

An ambulance arrived at the residence at 6 a. m. and Lauder was brought out on a stretcher. His niece, Miss Greta Lauder, remained at his bedside at a nursing home.

"He took it like a brick," members of the household said of the accident.

LITTLE GIRL BREAKS JINX TO WIN SPELLING CONTEST

DETROIT, May 14—(UP)—June Gurnerson, 13, won the metropolitan spelling bee on Friday the 13th. In her pocket she carried a four leaf clover, a wooden horseshoe, a 15-year-old good luck handkerchief, and a set of Indian charm beads.

Four Lawyers in Contest to Become Legion Chief

A SPIRITED campaign is being waged for the post of national commander of the American Legion to succeed Daniel J. Doherty of Massachusetts. Four lawyers seeking the position at the Legion's national convention in Los Angeles in September are, left to right, Lynn Stambaugh of North Dakota, Stephen Chadwick of Seattle, Ray Kelley of Detroit and Milo Warner of Ohio.

JURORS ISSUE FUND WARNING

Ohio Civil Service Workers Told Not To Contribute To Davey's Coeffers

COLUMBUS, May 14—(UP)—A warning against making further contributions to finance Gov. Martin L. Davey's campaign went out today to state civil service employees from the special grand jury investigating charges of assessments.

There has been no indication that the grand jury would proceed against employees who have contributed in response to solicitation and the warning was interpreted generally as intended to protect them.

The statement was issued prior to the week-end recess of the jurors who have heard nearly 200 witnesses.

"Any participation in politics by any civil service employees beyond voting as they please and expressing their opinion freely upon political matters is a violation of the civil service laws and will subject such employees to the penalties provided by statute," it said.

GERMAN TENNIS STAR TO SERVE YEAR IN PRISON

BERLIN, May 14—(UP)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Germany's greatest tennis player, was sentenced to one year in prison today on immorality charges at a trial in which a story of "Jewish blackmail" and a blighted honeymoon was announced by the court.

According to the verdict as read, Von Cramm was blackmailed for the act for which he was sentenced.

The verdict said that Von Cramm's "service to German sport was in his favor when it came to consideration of his sentence," but on the other hand "he damaged the reputation of German sport."

The verdict pointed out that Von Cramm "suffered economic loss by blackmail by Manfred Herbst of between 20,000 and 30,000 marks."

There was no proof that he had committed punishable acts, the court said, until he met Herbst, "who is a Galician Jew."

JUNE 15 DEADLINE FOR TAGS FIXED BY WARDEN

Harry Riffle, county dog warden, has set June 15 as the date for all dog owners to have licenses for their pets.

"After that date I expect to prosecute all owners who have not obtained licenses for their dogs," Riffle said. "This gives them ample time to purchase tags and plenty of warning."

The dog warden asked that persons who have dogs and do not expect to buy tags for them to notify him and they will be removed to the pound.

TWO COUPLES SCOFF AT JINX OF FRIDAY, 13

Cupid laughed in the face of the mythical Friday the 13th jinx in Probate court.

Two couples obtained licenses to wed Friday night from Judge C. C. Young. They were John L. Leist, 39, salesman, Columbus, and Pauline E. Kellison, beauty operator, Ashville, and Eugene Groves, 22, laborer, Ashville, and Nell Burnside, Ashville R. F. D.

ROPE DISPROVES KILLER'S CLAIM OF RUBBER NECK

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 14—(UP)—The gallows definitely disproved last night the proud boast of Murderer Raymond Styers, 29,—that he had a rubber neck. The rope broke his neck and he was pronounced dead 10 minutes after he went through the trap.

Styers himself lost faith at the last moment in what he had supposed was his physical immunity to the punishment prescribed by the state for the murder of Mrs. Anna Bris, mother of five children. When the guards went to the execution chamber, he rolled on the floor and refused to get up.

The guards sent for the "plank," a long board that is standard gallows equipment. Styers was stretched out face up and strapped to it. In this position he was carried to the gallows, around which were 50 witnesses including two young women, and stood on the trap, the board holding him rigidly upright.

Warden C. E. Stone invited him to speak as the rope was put around his neck.

"I hope you people are satisfied," he said.

He said he had been third-degreed by police and forced to testify against himself. Mrs. Bris was killed by bandits who held up her husband's cafe in Wheeling. Thomas Styers, Raymond's brother, is serving 10 years for the same crime. Ellsworth, 18, another brother, is serving time for another robbery in the same prison.

COURT STUDIES N. L. R. B. ACTION

Writ To Vacate Decree Of Circuit Judges Aired By Tribunal

WASHINGTON, May 14—(UP)—The supreme court meets for its usual conference today to consider a plea of the National Labor Relations board for an opportunity to comply with Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes' warning that quasi-judicial agencies must abide by the "spirit of the just judge."

The court may decide whether to grant the board's petition for a writ of mandamus, compelling the third circuit court of appeals to vacate its decree which prohibits further steps by the board in the Republic Steel corporation case.

The conference is the first meeting of the justices since publication of a magazine article criticizing the board's action.

PROTEST OF U. S. TO NAZI RULING WITHOUT BASE

BERLIN, May 14—(UP)—An American protest against a decree authorizing the "utilization" of property of Jews, foreign as well as German, was "completely baseless," the official news agency asserted today.

It was the first time the agency has referred to the American protest, made May 9. The protest asserted that the decree was a violation of the United States-German treaty of friendship of 1923.

"This claim is completely baseless," the agency said. "In the article of the treaty in question Germany and the United States assured each other they would put each other's citizens on the same basis in pursuit of industry and trade as those of the country in question. According to the (German) decree foreign Jews are not treated worse than domestic Jews."

The agency rejected the argument that the American-German treaty forbids different treatment for different groups of citizens because of race.

CARDENAS RAPS BRITISH DEBTS, RECALLS ENVOY

Rupture Believed Brought On By Expropriation Of Rich Oil Properties

IL DUCE CHIDES U. S.

Woodring's Speech Declaring Unity Assailed

BY UNITED PRESS

Mexico's angry suspension of diplomatic relations with Great Britain today threatened a major test of American foreign policy.

President Lazaro Cardenas acted abruptly as a result of controversy over an old British annuity claim of $85,000 but the actual cause of the rupture was Mexico's expropriation of $400,000,000 of foreign oil properties.

Mexico, considering the British demands for satisfaction insulting as contrasted to the conciliatory attitude of the United States, sharply reminded the London foreign office that "even powerful states" such as Britain had failed to meet obligations such as American war debts. Cardenas then paid the $85,000 but closed his London legation.

The action virtually put the United States under a diplomatic cross-fire. In the Americas, this government has determinedly pursued a Good Neighbor policy to bind Western hemisphere republics and to bar infiltration of dictatorial doctrines from Europe. Mexico is the key to that policy and the state department has moved with extreme caution in seeking settlement of the oil question, which is still far from solution.

Policies Similar

In Europe, the United States frequently has taken parallel action with Great Britain. President Roosevelt emphasized this tendency when he went out of his way to praise the "method" of peaceful settlement of Italo-British disputes—the basis for Britain's present attempt to curb Europe's war makers. Only yesterday the administration beat down an attempt to lift the Spanish arms embargo which would have disrupted British policy.

A more flamboyant repercussion of American policy came from Italy, where Premier Benito Mussolini—in a speech for home consumption—told a crowd of 800,000 cheering Italians that the dictatorial states will join hands if threatened with war by the world's democracies.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND SHED ON BLAINE FARM

Fire destroyed a barn and shed in Pickaway township, Friday evening, on the farm of James Blaine, Ross county commissioner. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

The Kingston fire department saved another shed and granary from destruction. Some farm implements, harness and other equipment in the barn and shed were lost.

The fire was discovered between 5 and 6 o'clock. No estimate of the loss was announced.

Garner, Farley Block West

WASHINGTON, May 14—(UP)—Informed sources said today that Vice-President John N. Garner and Postmaster General James A. Farley had blocked plans to nominate former Undersecretary of the Interior Charles West to the $15,000-a-year comptroller of the currency's post.

Earlier this week, persons close to the White House, had said that West was slated for the job vacated by J. F. T. O'Connor and that his nomination would be sent to the senate by President Roosevelt probably within a few days.

Publication of this plan, the United Press learned, surprised

Garner, Farley, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., who were said to have had a different understanding.

Garner, Farley and Morgenthau, the United Press informants said, told the White House that the choice of West would be contrary to pledges made to O'Connor when he left last April to campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in California.

Diggs to Get Job

O'Connor was assured then, they said, that Marshall R. Diggs of Dallas, Tex., who had served as his assistant on the board of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, would be permitted to remain as acting comptroller of the currency through the Summer.

According to friends of O'Connor, he had asked for this assurance for two reasons: One, that Diggs was familiar with O'Connor's program for the liquidation of the assets of closed national banks; two, that by leaving the post unfilled it would leave the impression that the administration still had confidence in O'Connor and was keeping the job open for him.

Where this arrangement broke down was a matter of gossip in (Continued on Page Eight)

May Treat Others

Dr. H. H. Schoenfeld, noted brain specialist, performed the operation yesterday before a group of surgeons. After its completion they agreed that success in this case might open the way to treatment of the condition which is found in a high percentage of cases in feeble minded institutions.

Microcephaly results from failure of the head to continue growing during childhood. Scientists believe that this is caused either by the brain's failure to grow or because the skull itself stops.

SCHOOLS TO END TRACK DEADLOCK WITH COIN TOSS

Ashville and New Holland will settle their track meet tie by lot. This was made certain Saturday when a decision was received by George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, from H. R. Townsend, Columbus, commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Mr. Townsend had been asked to determine how the tie should be settled after officials of the schools and superintendents of all county schools were unable to reach a decision.

"It is customary in track circles to decide all ties by lot," Mr. Townsend's letter stated. "Rule 28 of the 1938 N. C. A. A. track and field rules specifies that the prizes shall be awarded by lot in case of ties."

"In matters pertaining to track where ties as to championships are involved the results are usually decided by lot. If two schools are tied for the championship, the trophy, if any, is awarded to the school fortunate in the draw. In this case a trophy is not involved but the right to hold the meet next year."

"My decision is that the right to hold the meet next year be determined by the toss of a coin between the two schools. I would recommend that a regulation to this effect be incorporated in the county regulations so that if this ever happens again all will understand just what is to be the procedure."

So far no date has been set for the two schools to settle the tie.

JOURNALISM CLASS AIDS HERALD NEXT WEDNESDAY

The journalism class of Circleville high school will spend next Wednesday in The Daily Herald office helping to publish that day's issue of the newspaper.

Miss Margaret Mattinson, adviser, has assigned the pupils to the following departments: Helen Sayre, Lawrence Goeller, Mary Newmyer, and Ruth Clark, news; Richard Weldon, sports; Mary Hays, society, and Medreth Bach, Betty Colville, Joanne Conyers, Mary Fickard, Harriet Harman, Marjorie Leach, and Robert Lane, in other capacities.

The class members will help select, write and edit the news of the day and perform various other duties.

PROTEST OF U. S. TO NAZI RULING WITHOUT BASE

BERLIN, May 14—(UP)—An American protest against a decree authorizing the "utilization" of property of Jews, foreign as well as German, was "completely baseless," the official news agency asserted today.

It was the first time the agency has referred to the American protest, made May 9. The protest asserted that the decree was a violation of the United States-German treaty of friendship of 1923.

"This claim is completely baseless," the agency said. "In the article of the treaty in question Germany and the United States assured each other they would put each other's citizens on the same basis in pursuit of industry and trade as those of the country in question. According to the (German) decree foreign Jews are not treated worse than domestic Jews."

The agency rejected the argument that the American-German treaty forbids different treatment for different groups of citizens because of race.

CARDENAS RAPS BRITISH DEBTS, RECALLS ENVOY

Rupture Believed Brought On By Expropriation Of Rich Oil Properties

IL DUCE CHIDES U. S.

Woodring's Speech Declaring Unity Assailed

BY UNITED PRESS

Mexico's angry suspension of diplomatic relations with Great Britain today threatened a major test of American foreign policy.

President Lazaro Cardenas acted abruptly as a result of controversy over an old British annuity claim of $85,000 but the actual cause of the rupture was Mexico's expropriation of $400,000,000 of foreign oil properties.

Mexico, considering the British demands for satisfaction insulting as contrasted to the conciliatory attitude of the United States, sharply reminded the London foreign office that "even powerful states" such as Britain had failed to meet obligations such as American war debts. Cardenas then paid the $85,000 but closed his London legation.

The action virtually put the United States under a diplomatic cross-fire. In the Americas, this government has determinedly pursued a Good Neighbor policy to bind Western hemisphere republics and to bar infiltration of dictatorial doctrines from Europe. Mexico is the key to that policy and the state department has moved with extreme caution in seeking settlement of the oil question, which is still far from solution.

Policies Similar

In Europe, the United States frequently has taken parallel action with Great Britain. President Roosevelt emphasized this tendency when he went out of his way to praise the "method" of peaceful settlement of Italian-British disputes—the basis for Britain's present attempt to curb Europe's war makers. Only yesterday the administration beat down an attempt to lift the Spanish arms embargo which would have disrupted British policy.

A more flamboyant repercussion of American policy came from Italy, where Premier Benito Mussolini—in a speech for home consumption—told a crowd of 800,000 cheering Italians that the dictatorial states will join hands if threatened with war by the world's democracies.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND SHED ON BLAINE FARM

Fire destroyed a barn and shed in Pickaway township, Friday evening, on the farm of James Blaine, Ross county commissioner. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

The Kingston fire department saved another shed and granary from destruction. Some farm implements, harness and other equipment in the barn and shed were lost.

The fire was discovered between 5 and 6 o'clock. No estimate of the loss was announced.

Garner, Farley Block West

WASHINGTON, May 14—(UP)—Informed sources said today that Vice-President John N. Garner and Postmaster General James A. Farley had blocked plans to nominate former Undersecretary of the Interior Charles West to the $15,000-a-year controller of the currency's post.

Earlier this week, persons close to the White House, had said that West was slated for the job vacated by J. F. T. O'Connor and that his nomination would be sent to the senate by President Roosevelt probably within a few days.

Publication of this plan, the United Press learned, surprised

Garner, Farley, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., who were said to have had a different understanding.

Garner, Farley and Morgenthau, the United Press informants said, told the White House that the choice of West would be contrary to pledges made to O'Connor when he left last April to campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in California.

Diggs to Get Job

O'Connor was assured then, they said, that Marshall R. Diggs of Dallas, Tex., who had served as his assistant on the board of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, would be permitted to remain as acting controller of the currency through the Summer.

According to friends of O'Connor, he had asked for this assurance for two reasons: One, that Diggs was familiar with O'Connor's program for the liquidation of the assets of closed national banks; two, that by leaving the post unfilled it would leave the impression that the administration still had confidence in O'Connor and was keeping the job open for him.

Where this arrangement broke down was a matter of gossip in (Continued on Page Eight)

High Jumpers to Attempt Record Leap of 6 Feet 10

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14—(UP)—The boys who fly through the air won't be able to do it with the greatest of ease at the national collegiate track and field championships at the University of Minnesota horseshoe stadium June 17 and 18, as one of the most competitive fields in the history of the meet is scheduled to gather. Dave Albritton, Ohio, national collegiate and A. A. U. champion high jumper, and co-holder of the present world mark, will defend his title against a brilliant array of jumpers. Albritton, with a mark of 6 feet 8 1/2 inches, is believed capable of 6 feet 10 inches. But it'll take lots of poetry on that mark when he faces such stars as Delos Thurber, Southern California; Eddie Burke of Marquette, who leaped 6 feet 9 1/4 inches to win the National A. A. U. indoor; Russ Wulff, Stanford, and Gil Cruter, Colorado Negro, who has bettered 6 feet 8 inches. Bob Hubbard, Minnesota, is the favorite son in the broad jump, Hubbard's mark of 24 feet 9 1/4 inches can be matched or bettered by Arnold Nutting, California, with a mark of 25 feet 3 inches; the division.

YANKS, INDIANS LOSE, OPEN WAY FOR SENATORS

Boston Red Sox, Led By Cronin And Foxx, Go To Second Spot

NEW YORK, May 14—(UP)—The American league standings had a National league tinge today with the four leaders so closely bunched that a blanket would cover them. Washington continued to hold the lead, with the Boston Red Sox nudging the Senators from only .004 points behind and with the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians sharing third place, only a game off the pace. It's the closest American league scramble in years. Strangest bedfellow in this quartet is the Boston Red Sox. Tom Yawkey's high-priced collection of baseball bric-a-brac over which a great change has come. Life and larup have replaced lethargy on the Red Sox. In recent years they have been tagged as a team that wouldn't hustle but they're up there breathing on the Senators' necks because of their new slogan—"Won For All and All For Won." Cronin, Foxx Hit

The two hustlers who are showing the way are Manager Joe Cronin and First Baseman Jimmy Foxx, batting .361 and .342, respectively. The "big five" of the mound are Lefty Grove, with five straight victories, Fritz Ostermueler, with two wins and no losses; Johnny Marcum, with 3 and 1; Jim Bagby, the rookie find, with 2 and 1; and Jack Wilson, with 2 and 2. Wilson, the fire-baller, pitched his second straight shutout yesterday by blanking the Senators, 10-0. He allowed only seven hits, fanned three and permitted only one man to reach third base. It was Boston's 6th straight win. Potter Tough Rookie Nelson Potter's great relief pitching in the last 2-3 innings featured the Athletics' 8-6 victory over the Yankees. It was the Yanks' second defeat after winning seven straight. Wayne Ambler, A's rookie shortstop, had a perfect day, getting "5 for 5." Wally Moses hit a homer with one on.

A three-run rally in the ninth enabled the Chicago White Sox to trip Cleveland, 7-6. Singles by Berger and Steinbacher and Pytlak's wild throw produced the three tallies. Detroit hammered out 14 hits to beat the St. Louis Browns, 7-5. Charlie Gehringer led the Tigers' attack with two doubles and a single. Dixie Walker hit a double and triple. Pittsburgh rallied to come from behind and defeat the Chicago Cubs, 4-1, in 10 innings, in the only National league game. Mace Brown won his fifth game, in a relief role. The Pirates tied the score in the eighth and knocked Larry French out in the 10th to score three runs. Tony Lazzeri's fifth homer was the only Cubs' run.

TOLEDO SCOTT MAY WIN MIAMI RELAYS HONORS

OXFORD, May 14—(UP)—Toledo Scott, long one of the ranking powers in Ohio scholastic track circles, today was a heavy favorite to win the Class "A" championship in the Miami Relays. Scott and Springfield led the schools in the qualifying trials in the dash events here yesterday by placing five men each in the events. Finals in all events are scheduled today. With its great brother act bearing the brunt of the burden, Cincinnati Glendale was favored to take the Class "B" championship that Columbus Upper Arlington will not defend. Glendale's entire point-getting burden appeared to rest upon the shoulders of Joe and John Saunders, a pair of versatile Negro youths. Back of Toledo Scott and Springfield in the Class "A" qualifying trials came Cincinnati Western Hills, Cincinnati Hughes, Dayton Fairview and Hamilton, each of which placed three men in the finals.

FRENCH TO RATE LEAGUE TITLE AS RELIEF ACE

COLUMBUS, May 14—(UP)—A slender, 25 year old right-hander who had worked with indifferent success for the last two seasons in the role of a starting pitcher, today was well on his way toward becoming the ace relief hurler of the American Association. Don French, the pitcher in question, won only four contests during the 1936 season when used by Portland in the Pacific Coast league as a starter, and last year when he divided his time between Toledo and Indianapolis in a similar capacity he gained only three triumphs.

Manager Ray Schalk of Indianapolis has used French solely in relief roles this year and yesterday he hung up his fifth straight victory. French was sent to the box in the eighth inning with his team trailing Louisville 4 to 3. In the two innings he hurled French gave up only one hit and no runs. Indianapolis came from behind to score two in the eighth and grab the decision 5 to 4. The Kansas City Blues continued their blazing pace by downing Milwaukee 7 to 5. The Toledo Mudhens took a 12 to 9 decision from Columbus in a sandlotish exhibition. Columbus used six pitchers in a futile attempt to stop Toledo. In the other game, Minneapolis bested St. Paul 5 to 3.

SNARK WINS FAVOR NEW YORK, May 14—(UP)—Wheatley Stable's Snark, last year's winner, today was favored to win the 45th running of the $7,500 added Metropolitan handicap

TERRIBLE TONY TROUNCES MANN

Swishing Left Smacks Drives Connecticut Man Through Ropes Of Ring

NEW YORK, May 14—(UP)—Tony Galento, the fat tavern-keeper of Orange, N. J., who trains on beer and big, black cigars, climbed up on a rubbing table deep in Madison Square Garden, beat his best in Tarzan-like fashion and belittled: "I'll knock Baer out. I want Baer. I'll knock out Tommy Farr, too. I'll knock Louis out. I'll knock 'em all out—quick!" And "Two Ton" Tony meant what he said. For, only a few minutes before he had knocked out rugged Nathan Mann of New Haven after two minutes, four seconds of fighting in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden before a crowd of 9,190. Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, fought Mann in the same ring on Feb. 23, and needed seven minutes and 56 seconds—1:56 of the third round—to turn the same trick.

Punch Dangerous Some of the "experts" gathered in Galento's madhouse dressing room snickered at Tony's boasts—just like they had when he predicted he would kayo Mann. Others thought maybe Tony had something—because he showed last night that his punch is probably the most dangerous in the business today.

Mike Jacobs, who promoted the show, will confer with Galento's manager, Joe Jacobs today, regarding Tony's next performance. Probably he will fight Maxie Baer, the former champion, in July with the winner to get a shot either in September or next June at the winner of the Schmeling-Louis fight on June 22.

After the victory, Galento sped with a host of friends back to his Orange, N. J., pub and last reports had it that the taps, as usual after a Galento triumph, were wide open and that the larger flowed through the night. Tony only was reinstated by the commission two weeks ago after he had been suspended for refusing to shift his training activities from the rear of a pool hall to a reputable camp. Another factor that figured in his suspension was his penchant for having himself photographed in ring tows while guzzling steins of beer and smoking cigars.

Mann, weighing 191 1/2, had the edge over his 233-pound, Paunchy opponent in the first round. He opened a slight cut over Tony's lip and from then on the sparse-haired Jerseyite looked like he had a red mustache.

Mann in Fatal Error Then, in the second round, Mann made the mistake of trying to rough it up with his opponent. Tony bent over into a crouch and moved in like a mad boar. Swish—and his left hook flashed to Nate's jaw. Mann was knocked through the ropes near a neutral corner and took a count of nine. Galento went to the opposite corner. As Mann rose, he lumbered across the ring, and with the momentum of his beefy frame behind him, let go an awkward right. Mann went down to the canvas—got to his knees and was just ready to get up on his feet when Referee Arthur Donovan tolled the fatal "10 and out."

That was the end of Mann—the 23-year-old clean living Connecticut farmer boy.

HOLLY TO FACE MACON IN CARD CITY BALL GAME

ST. LOUIS, May 14—(UP)—Al Hollinsworth, lanky southpaw who has shown definite indications of developing into a winner under the patient guidance of Manager Bill McKechnie, was to take the mound for the Cincinnati Reds against the St. Louis Cardinals in a delayed series opener today. Max Macon, rookie southpaw, was to oppose him.

The contest scheduled between the clubs yesterday was postponed because of rain and cold weather.

A Little Bit Out of Season Should We Say?

PERHAPS a bit out of season, but a good picture anyway. It's Spring football practice at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H., and Bus Zietrides, guard, on the ground, and Larry Bilkes, ball carrier, battle for a loose ball. The Dartmouth team stood at the top in the East last fall.

Fellowship Needed for Country Club Success

BY WILLIAM BOWMAN Pickaway Club Professional

When is a country club a Country Club? This question may seem rather silly, but there is a very serious definition connected with all country clubs. In order to have a Country Club we must have a golf course, a club house and its facilities, tennis courts and other forms of amusement. Then we must have members, enough members to support the financial obligations of the club; we must have members who can play a fair game of golf; we must have good fellows and mix freely with other members of the club; we must have members who will at any time willingly play golf with any other member who might be there for a game; we must have members who will sponsor club golf matches among the members.

Such a match or event should be held weekly, the event varying each week. One week there should be a golf ball sweepstakes; another week there should be a kickers handicap; another week there should be an individual match against par 7-8 of handicap prevailing. Another week there should be a two-ball best-ball match against par one-third of combined handicaps prevailing. Another week should see a four ball aggregate allowing one-sixth of the difference in high and low handicaps added to low. Another week should see a four-ball best-ball match against par, 1-6 of the difference of high and low handicaps added to low; then a club should start a qualifying round for a club trophy, 16 to qualify for match play 3-4 of difference in handicap prevailing; another golf ball sweepstakes should then take place; then there should be a tombstone tournament, the player adding his handicap to par, and plant his flag where his last stroke lay. We would now start the qualifying round for the club championship, the first eight to play for the club championship at match, the next 16 for the class B championship and the next eight to play for the class C championship or all three flights may be made up from 16 players. Players with handicaps from 1 to 10 are usually allowed to qualify for the club championship, and handicaps from 11 to 20 for class B championship, and from 21 to 30 for class C championship. While these matches are being played each week there should be held various other weekly tournament such as golf ball sweepstakes, selected score events, and then comes along the Fall Handicap; 16 to qualify and play off at match play 7-8 of difference in handicap, then the last event of the season, a cup may be put up by the pro and played for at match play. These events if kept going by a country club will soon cement the fellows into one hand of good fellowship.

Therefore it is very necessary for a Country Club to have a very active Tournament Committee, who will solicit funds for prizes and establish a prize fund of sufficient size to carry it through the season. This duty should not be placed on the Pro.

When a Country club operates as above specified, it is in reality a Country club. When there are no events carried on, and the members are allowed to make up their foursomes in town, go out and play together, make their own rules, not enter the weekly tournaments, then the Country Club is just a place for a private golf match. These matches are all right through the week, but there should be one day set aside for a tournament.

INDIANS REFUSE FIRST PLACE IN 6 TO 7 LAPSE

CLEVELAND, May 14—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians today had slammed the door in the face of opportunity and blundered away a chance to regain first place in the tight American league race. The Indians booting away a glorious opportunity to take over the lead yesterday when they were beaten 7 to 6 by the Chicago White Sox.

Going into the ninth with a two run lead, the ineffectiveness of Relief Pitcher Joe Heving and a lapse in the Cleveland defensive enabled Chicago to score three times and grab the victory. Willis Hudlin started in the box for Cleveland and pitched fair ball. He had one bad inning, the second, in which he permitted the White Sox to score four times. After that Hudlin worked well until lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

A home run by Hal Trosky with one man on base in the second inning gave Cleveland its first counters. The Indians did not score again until the eighth when they drove Thornton Lee to the showers with a four man spurge and took the lead 6 to 4.

A walk and two singles off Heving opened the Chicago ninth and sent the veteran to the showers. Denny Galehouse then came in and was nicked for another single that sent across the tying run and put the winning marker on third. The latter came across when Frankie Pytlak cut loose with a wild throw in an attempt to trap the runner.

Johnny Whitehead set the Indians down in order in their half of the ninth.

The clubs were to meet here again today with Earl Whitehill and Bill Dietrich as the opposing hurlers.

Silk and rayon jerseys continue popular for day and evening wear.

DAUBER LIKED IN PREAKNESS

Fighting Fox And Bull Lea Have Chance, Too, To Gain Laurels

By Henry McLemore

BALTIMORE, Md., May 14 — (UP)—The Derby disappointments have a chance to redeem themselves today—and at a very fancy price.

With Lawrin, their conqueror in Kentucky, ineligible, five of the colts who choked in his dust a week ago, run in the 38th renewal of the $70,000 Preakness at Pimlico track this afternoon.

Favorite in the betting at 8 to 5, and liked by the handicappers, was Dauber, the unflinching stretch-runner from the Foxcatcher farm who was overhauling Lawrin at the finish in the derby. This despite the fact that the Preakness is a sixteenth of a mile shorter than the Derby and Pimlico, with its four sharp turns and brief straightaway is not the sort of layout Dauber prefers. Fighting Fox and Bull Lea, flops in the derby, have everyone guessing. By breeding and record book figures, these two have the class to run with anything on four legs, but today the Fox was quoted at 5 to 1 and Bull Lea at 8 to 1. The picture of the Woodward colt and the Calumet pride collapsing in the backstretch at Louisville still was green in bettors' memories.

Both colts have worked well this week. Fighting Fox will go to the post in blinkers for the first time in his career, and Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons hopes this equipment will make him attend strictly to the business of running.

High Jumpers to Attempt Record Leap of 6 Feet 10

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14—(UP)—The boys who fly through the air won't be able to do it with the greatest of ease at the national collegiate track and field championships at the University of Minnesota horseshoe stadium June 17 and 18, as one of the most competitive fields in the history of the meet is scheduled to gather. Dave Albritton, Ohio, national collegiate and A. A. U. champion high jumper, and co-holder of the present world mark, will defend his title against a brilliant array of jumpers. Albritton, with a mark of 6 feet 8 1/2 inches, is believed capable of 6 feet 10 inches. But it'll take lots of poetry on that mark when he faces such stars as Delos Thurber, Southern California; Eddie Burke of Marquette, who leaped 6 feet 9 1/2 inches to win the National A. A. U. indoor; Russ Wulff, Stanford, and Gil Cruter, Colorado Negro, who has bettered 6 feet 8 inches. Bob Hubbard, Minnesota, is the favorite son in the broad jump, Hubbard's mark of 24 feet 9 1/2 inches can be matched or bettered by Arnold Nutting, California, with a mark of 25 feet 3 inches;

YANKS, INDIANS LOSE, OPEN WAY FOR SENATORS

Boston Red Sox, Led By Cronin And Foxx, Go To Second Spot

NEW YORK, May 14—(UP)—The American league standings had a National league tinge today with the four leaders so closely bunched that a blanket would cover them. Washington continued to hold the lead, with the Boston Red Sox nudging the Senators from only .004 points behind and with the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians sharing third place, only a game off the pace. It's the closest American league scramble in years.

Strangest bedfellow in this quarter is the Boston Red Sox, Tom Yawkey's high-priced collection of baseball bric-a-brac over which a great change has come. Life and lard have replaced lethargy on the Red Sox. In recent years they have been tagged as a team that wouldn't hustle but they're up there breathing on the Senators' necks because of their new slogan—"Won For All and All For Won."

Cronin, Foxx Hit The two hustlers who are showing the way are Manager Joe Cronin and First Baseman Jimmy Foxx, batting .361 and .342, respectively. The "big five" of the mound are Lefty Grove, with five straight victories, Fritz Ostermueler, with two wins and no losses; Johnny Marcum, with 3 and 1; Jim Bagby, the rookie find, with 2 and 1; and Jack Wilson, with 2 and 2.

Wilson, the fire-baller, pitched his second straight shutout yesterday by blanking the Senators, 10-0. He allowed only seven hits, fanned three and permitted only one man to reach third base. It was Boston's 6th straight win.

Potter Tough Rookie Nelson Potter's great relief pitching in the last 2-3 innings featured the Athletics' 8-6 victory over the Yankees. It was the Yanks' second defeat after winning seven straight. Wayne Ambler, A's rookie shortstop, had a perfect day, getting "5 for 5." Wally Moses hit a homer with one on.

A three-run rally in the ninth enabled the Chicago White Sox to trip Cleveland, 7-6. Singles by Berger and Steinbacher and Pylak's wild throw produced the three tallies.

Detroit hammered out 14 hits to beat the St. Louis Browns, 7-5. Charlie Gehringer led the Tigers' attack with two doubles and a single. Dixie Walker hit a double and triple.

Pittsburgh rallied to come from behind and defeat the Chicago Cubs, 4-1, in 10 innings, in the only National league game. Mace Brown won his fifth game, in a relief role. The Pirates tied the score in the eighth and knocked Larry French out in the 10th to score three runs, Tony Lazzeri's fifth homer was the only Cubs' run.

Ankenman, Gleason, Grilk, Grace. Two-base hits—Garibaldi, Miller, Nelson. Left on bases—Toledo, 9; Columbus, 11. Base on balls—Off Nelson, 4; off Seinoth, 4; off Hader, 1; off Humphries, 2; off Lynn, 2. Struck out—By Nelson, 2; by Hader, 1; by Martynik, 2. Hits—Off Andrews, 1 in 1-3 innings; off Seinoth, 1 in 1-3; off Hader, 7 in 3-5; off Humphries, 2 in 1-3; off Martynik, none in 2-3; off Lynn, 2 in 2-3. Wild pitches—Hader, Humphries, 2. Losing pitcher—Seinoth. Umpires—Genshlea and Dunn. Time 2:15.

TOLEDO SCOTT MAY WIN MIAMI RELAYS HONORS

OXFORD, May 14—(UP)—Toledo Scott, long one of the ranking powers in Ohio scholastic track circles, today was a heavy favorite to win the Class "A" championship in the Miami Relays. Scott and Springfield led the schools in the qualifying trials in the dash events here yesterday by placing five men each in the events. Finals in all events are scheduled today.

With its great brother act bearing the brunt of the burden, Cincinnati Glendale was favored to take the Class "B" championship that Columbus Upper Arlington will not defend. Glendale's tie point-getting burden appeared to rest upon the shoulders of Joe and John Saunders, a pair of versatile Negro youths.

Back of Toledo Scott and Springfield in the Class "A" qualifying trials came Cincinnati Western Hills, Cincinnati Hughes, Dayton Fairview and Hamilton, each of which placed three men in the finals.

FRENCH TO RATE LEAGUE TITLE AS RELIEF ACE

COLUMBUS, May 14—(UP)—A slender, 25 year old right-hander who had worked with indifferent success for the last two seasons in the role of a starting pitcher, today was well on his way toward becoming the ace relief hurler of the American Association. Don French, the pitcher in question, won only four contests during the 1936 season when used by Portland in the Pacific Coast league as a starter, and last year when he divided his time between Toledo and Indianapolis in a similar capacity he gained only three triumphs.

Swishing Left Smacks Drives Connecticut Man Through Ropes Of Ring

NEW YORK, May 14—(UP)—Tony Galento, the fat tavern-keeper of Orange, N. J., who trains on beer and big, black cigars, climbed up on a rubbing table deep in Madison Square Garden, beat his best in Tarzan-like fashion and belittled: "I'll knock Baer out. I want Baer. I'll knock out Tommy Farr, too. I'll knock Louis out. I'll knock 'em all out—quick!" And "Two Ton" Tony meant what he said. For, only a few minutes before he had knocked out rugged Nathan Mann of New Haven after two minutes, four seconds of fighting in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden before a crowd of 9,190.

Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, fought Mann in the same ring on Feb. 23, and needed seven minutes and 56 seconds—1:56 of the third round—to turn the same trick.

Punch Dangerous Some of the "experts" gathered in Galento's madhouse dressing room snickered at Tony's boasts—just like they had when he predicted he would kayo Mann. Others thought maybe Tony had something—because he showed last night that his punch is probably the most dangerous in the business today.

Mike Jacobs, who promoted the show, will confer with Galento's manager, Joe Jacobs today, regarding Tony's next performance. Probably he will fight Maxie Baer, the former champion, in July with the winner to get a shot either in September or next June at the winner of the Schmeling-Louis fight on June 22.

After the victory, Galento sped with a host of friends back to his Orange, N. J., pub and last reports had it that the taps, as usual after a Galento triumph, were wide open and that the larger flowed through the night.

Tony only was reinstated by the commission two weeks ago after he had been suspended for refusing to shift his training activities from the rear of a pool hall to a reputable camp. Another factor that figured in his suspension was his penchant for having himself photographed in ring togs while guzzling steins of beer and smoking cigars.

Mann, weighing 191 1/2, had the edge over his 232-pound, Paunchy opponent in the first round. He opened a slight cut over Tony's lip and from then on the sparse-haired Jerseyite looked like he had a red mustache.

Mann in Fatal Error Then, in the second round, Mann made the mistake of trying to rough it up with his opponent. Tony bent over into a crouch and moved in like a mad boar. Swish—and his left hook flashed to Nate's jaw. Mann was knocked through the ropes near a neutral corner and took a count of nine.

Galento went to the opposite corner. As Mann rose, he lumbered across the ring, and with the momentum of his beefy frame behind him, let go an awkward right. Mann went down to the canvas—got to his knees and was just ready to get up on his feet when Referee Arthur Donovan tolled the fatal "10 and out."

That was the end of Mann—the 23-year-old clean living Connecticut farmer boy.

HOLLY TO FACE MACON IN CARD CITY BALL GAME

ST. LOUIS, May 14—(UP)—Al Hollinsworth, lanky southpaw who has shown definite indications of developing into a winner under the patient guidance of Manager Bill McKechie, was to take the mound for the Cincinnati Reds against the St. Louis Cardinals in a delayed series opener today. Max Macon, rookie southpaw, was to oppose him.

DAUBER LIKED IN PREAKNESS

A Little Bit Out of Season Should We Say?

PERHAPS a bit out of season, but a good picture anyway. It's Spring football practice at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H., and Bus Zietrides, guard, on the ground, and Larry Bilkes, ball carrier, battle for a loose ball. The Dartmouth team stood at the top in the East last fall.

Fellowship Needed for Country Club Success

BY WILLIAM BOWMAN Pickaway Club Professional

When is a country club a Country Club? This question may seem rather silly, but there is a very serious definition connected with all country clubs. In order to have a Country Club we must have a golf course, a club house and its facilities, tennis courts and other forms of amusement. Then we must have members, enough members to support the financial obligations of the club; we must have members who can play a fair game of golf; we must have members who will prove themselves good fellows and mix freely with other members of the club; we must have members who will at any time willingly play golf with any other member who might be there for a game; we must have members who will sponsor club golf matches among the members.

Such a match or event should be held weekly, the event varying each week. One week there should be a golf ball sweepstakes; another week there should be a kickers handicap; another week there should be an individual match against par 7-8 of handicap prevailing. Another week there should be a two-ball best-ball match against par one-third of combined handicaps prevailing. Another week should see a four ball aggregate allowing one-sixth of the difference in high and low handicaps added to low. Another week should see a four-ball best-ball match against par, 1-6 of the difference of high and low handicaps added to low; then a club should start a qualifying round for a club trophy, 16 to qualify for match play 3-4 of difference in handicap prevailing; another golf ball sweepstakes should then take place; then there should be a tombstone tournament, the player adding his handicap to par, and plant his flag where his last stroke lay. We would now start the qualifying round for the club championship, the first eight to play for the club championship at match, the next 16 for the class B championship and the next eight to play for the class C championship or all three flights may be made up from 16 players. Players with handicaps from 1 to 10 are usually allowed to qualify for the club championship, and handicaps from 11 to 20 for class B championship, and from 21 to 30 for class C championship. While these matches are being played each week there should be held various other weekly tournament such as golf ball sweepstakes, selected score events, and then comes along the Fall Handicap; 16 to qualify and play off at match play 7-8 of difference in handicap, then the last event of the season, a cup may be put up by the pro and played for at match play. These events if kept going by a country club will soon cement the fellows into one band of good fellowship.

Therefore it is very necessary for a Country Club to have a very active Tournament Committee, who will solicit funds for prizes and establish a prize fund of sufficient size to carry it through the season. This duty should not be placed on the Pro.

When a Country club operates as above specified, it is in reality a Country club. When there are no events carried on, and the members are allowed to make up their foursomes in town, go out and play together, make their own rules, not enter the weekly tournaments, then the Country Club is just a place for a private golf match. These matches are all right through the week, but there should be one day set aside for a tournament, and the first four members at the club should play golf together, and the next four, etc. This form of play will put a Country Club on its feet with good fellowship quicker than one would realize. When we are sick the first thing we look for is a good doctor. When a club is sick we need tournaments and mixers and it will soon get well just as the doctor puts his patient on his feet.

The ladies of the Country club can also contribute to the treatment of a sick club by organizing and holding tournaments among themselves once a week, handicaps prevailing. I say, let's get busy and have a real country club and just not a place to play golf.

Withdrawal of the A. & P. from the Circleville Recreation ball league has left the organization with six teams, Circleville Oils, Ralston-Purina, Colored youths, Eshelman, South Bloomfield and Fenton cleaners.

The game Monday, opening the season, will be between the Circleville Oils and Ralston-Purina. Tuesday will bring Eshelman Feeds against Colored youth, and Wednesday will pit the South Bloomfield and Fenton cleaners crews. Tuesday's game will be between Ralston-Purina and Eshelman Feeds.

INDIANS REFUSE FIRST PLACE IN 6 TO 7 LAPSE

CLEVELAND, May 14—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians today had slammed the door in the face of opportunity and blundered away a chance to regain first place in the tight American league race.

The Indians booted away a glorious opportunity to take over the lead yesterday when they were beaten 7 to 6 by the Chicago White Sox.

Going into the ninth with a two run lead, the ineffectiveness of Relief Pitcher Joe Heving and a lapse in the Cleveland defensive enabled Chicago to score three times and grab the victory.

As a result of the loss Cleveland dropped into a tie for third place with the New York Yankees.

Willis Hudlin started in the box for Cleveland and pitched fair ball. He had one bad inning, the second, in which he permitted the White Sox to score four times. After that Hudlin worked well until lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

A home run by Hal Trosky with one man on base in the second inning gave Cleveland its first counters. The Indians did not score again until the eighth when they drove Thornton Lee to the showers with a four man spurge and took the lead 6 to 4.

A walk and two singles off Heving opened the Chicago ninth and sent the veteran to the showers. Denny Galehouse then came in and was nicked for another single that sent across the tying run and put the winning marker on third. The latter came across when Frankie Pylak cut loose with a wild throw in an attempt to trap the runner.

Johnny Whitehead set the Indians down in order in their half of the ninth.

The clubs were to meet here again today with Earl Whitehill and Bill Dietrich as the opposing hurlers.

Silk and rayon jerseys continue popular for day and evening wear.

Fighting Fox And Bull Lea Have Chance, Too, To Gain Laurels

By Henry McLemore BALTIMORE, Md., May 14 — (UP)—The Derby disappointments have a chance to redeem themselves today—and at a very fancy price.

With Lawrin, their conqueror in Kentucky, ineligible, five of the colts who choked in his dust a week ago, run in the 38th renewal of the $70,000 Preakness at Pimlico track this afternoon.

Favorite in the betting at 8 to 5, and liked by the handicappers, was Dauber, the unflinching stretch-runner from the Fox-catcher farm who was overhauling Lawrin at the finish in the derby. This despite the fact that the Preakness is a sixteenth of a mile shorter than the Derby and Pimlico, with its four sharp turns and brief straightaway is not the sort of layout Dauber prefers.

Fighting Fox and Bull Lea, flops in the derby, have everyone guessing. By breeding and record book figures, these two have the class to run with anything on four legs, but today the Fox was quoted at 5 to 1 and Bull Lea at 8 to 1. The picture of the Woodward colt and the Calumet pride collapsing in the backstretch at Louisville still was green in bettors' memories.

Both colts have worked well this week. Fighting Fox will go to the post in blinkers for the first time in his career, and Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons hopes this equipment will make him attend strictly to the business of running.

Testing Discipleship With Service

One day a rich young ruler came running to Jesus and knelt to him, asking, "Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?"

When he professed to have kept all of God's commandments Jesus tested him by suggesting he sell all he had and give to the poor and then come follow him.

The rich young ruler loved his riches too much to do this. "His countenance fell at the saying and he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions."

Peter showed something of the same selfishness when he said to Jesus, "Lo, we have left all and have followed thee, what then shall we have?" (GOLDEN TEXT—Mark 10:21)

Mark 10:21—"Come, follow me."

Testing Discipleship by Service

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 15 is Mark 10:17-31, the Golden Text being Mark 10:21, "Come, follow me.")

"LOVE at first sight" always has its perils because it frequently has its disillusionments. Jesus' love for the "Rich Young Ruler" seems to have been somewhat of the nature and experience of "love at first sight."

Quest for Eternal Life

"There ran one to him and knelt to him and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life? And Jesus said unto him, why callest thou me good? None is good save one, even God." To call Jesus "good" is not enough, for if he is not God as he professed to be, he is not even good! Superficial compliments paid to Jesus' goodness, may, if they go no further, establish kinship with Judas' betrayal of the Son of Man with a kiss. With this challenge to the youth to weigh well his praise of Christ, our Lord proceeded to test his life with the commands meant to govern his relations with his fellowmen: "Thou knowest the commandments, Do not kill, Do not commit adultery, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honor thy father and mother. And he said unto him, Master, all these things have I observed from my youth, and Jesus looking upon him loved him." Yes, here was "love at first sight."

"One Thing Thou Lackest"

Here was a clean moral youth, who, so far as overt acts of sin were concerned, had lived a blameless life. "Clean as a hound's tooth," we call such a life today. He sincerely felt that his life had been blameless. He had committed no sin, he thought, still his morality left him hungering for something he called "eternal life." Jesus loved him enough to point out his faults. "One thing thou lackest, go, sell whatsoever thou hast and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me." To harm no one is not enough. We may do this and still help no one. God's commands are not fulfilled by refraining from harmful acts of commission, murder, theft, adultery and the like. Negative morality may be perfectly cold and loveless. God's commandments demand a warm, positive outflow of love to our neighbor that will make us want to be helpful to the limit of his need and our ability. Therefore, to show the young ruler that he had failed utterly to keep God's commandments in love, Jesus challenged him to prove his love by service. There are sins of omission as cruel and as heartless as those committed by murderers, adulterers and thieves. And Jesus, severest rebukes seemed to fall upon this class of sin of which the rich young ruler was unconsciously guilty.

The Acid Test

Unwilling to prove his profession of righteousness under the acid test, Jesus suggested, "his countenance fell at the saying and he went away sorrowful: for he was one that had great possessions. And Jesus looked round about and said unto his disciples, how hardly shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of God!" Where now is the love for his neighbor he professed to have from his youth? The center of gravity of his interest is in his riches, which he clutches as he goes away from Christ into oblivion. He made the great refusal because he tried to serve God and Mammon instead of serving God with Mammon.

Church Briefs

The Rev. George Troutman's sermon subjects Sunday are: morning, "The Prodigal that Remained at Home"; and evening, "The Sin of Procrastination."

The Rev. Robert Palmer, pastor of the Church of Christ, 451 E. Main street, will preach Sunday morning on the subject "With Jesus Through the Storm." His evening sermon theme will be "Killing Lions."

"My Church and I," and "Called to be Saints" will be the sermon subjects of the Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor of First United Brethren church at the Sunday morning and evening services, respectively.

"Consenting to What" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning. The choir selection will be "Praise Ye the Father," by Gounod. Organ selections throughout the service include Adoration, by Bororosi, souvenir, by Draler, and Triumphant March, by Costa.

The Rev. Herman A. Sayre, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, will preach Sunday morning on the theme "Human Needs." A missionary hymn entitled "My Prayer," will be sung by Mrs. James P. Moffitt. The choir number will be, "I Met the Good Shepherd," by C. F. Bower. Miss Ruby Harris will sing the solo part.

Young folk of the Methodist church will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. An interesting program is being arranged. Virgil Cress is the president of the group.

UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH DISCUSSES BUYING ORGAN

Congregational meeting of members of the First United Brethren church will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Plans for securing a church organ will be discussed. The official board at its meeting last week adopted a resolution that a memorial fund be secured for the purchase of an electric organ and that a meeting of members and officials be called for May 18 for consideration of this resolution.

The church will observe its 100th anniversary as an incorporated body in March, 1939.

WILLIAMSPORT

Mrs. Earl Baker entertained the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Brown's Chapel, at her home, Thursday afternoon, May 5th, with eleven members present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jesse Rose who presided during the business session. The meeting opened with a Meditation played on the piano by Mrs. Baker followed with a chain prayer by the Society, after which the hymn "Come, Thou Almighty King" was sung. Mrs. Edward Slager was in charge of the Stewardship Service. Mrs. Sherman Campbell was devotional leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Baker played the "Hymn 'O, Master Let Me Walk With Thee'" followed with two songs by the society, "Be Strong" and "The Old Rugged Cross." A report of the group meeting at South Salem was given by Mrs. Rose. Mrs. Annette Brown, program leader, presented a very interesting program which was as follows: Reading, "Our Mohammedan Neighbors"; Poem, "Country Homesickness"; Mrs. Anna Rudell; Vocal Solo, "Sacrament"; Mrs. Hazel McCollister accompanied by Mrs. Roy Anderson; Story, "Vacation for Mother"; Mrs. Sherman Campbell; Reading, "There Still Are Mothers"; Mrs. David Patton; Poems, "Mother's Day," "The Stick-Together Families," and "Mother's Glasses"; Miss Carolyn Bochart. The meeting closed with a song and the Missionary Benediction. The members present were: Mrs. Jesse Rose, Mrs. David Patton, Mrs. Roy Anderson, Mrs. George Bochart, Mrs. Edward Slager, Mrs. Sherman Campbell, Mrs. Anna Rudell, Mrs. Hazel McCollister, Mrs. Annette Brown, Miss Carolyn Bochart and the hostess. During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Roma Slager, June 2nd.

Those from Williamsport who enjoyed a week-end excursion trip to Washington D. C., included Misses Helen Betts, Helen West, Grace Pinsenchau, and Winona Stonerock, teachers; Misses Betty McGhee, Marjorie Heiskell, Mary Alice Luellen, Sara Jane Godden, and Martha Tipton, Don Russell, Drexel LeMay, Bill Johnson, Marvin McDill, L. V. Ebenhack, and Lyle Miner. Miss Jessie Pinsenchau of Columbus, also accompanied the local group.

Miss Laura McGhee entertained the Contract Bridge Club with a dinner party at her home, last Friday evening. Her guests were: Mrs. H. J. Bowers of Ashville, Mrs. Russell McDill of Frankfort, Mrs. Harry McGhee, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, Mrs. S. B. Metzger, Mrs. Lee Luellen, Miss Margaret Dunlap, members, and Miss Virginia Smith, a guest player.

Miss Mary Jones of Newark visited with her mother, Mrs. Lyman Jones, over Mother's Day. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Luellen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond French of Knightstown, Indiana, Sunday. Mrs. Luellen remained to spend the week with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Carman and daughter Barbara of Lexington were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carman.

Mrs. Ezra Hill of Columbus visited with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hill part of last week and until Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Hill accompanied her home for a few days.

Miss Alice Tipton of Ohio State University spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Tipton.

Miss Mary White of Gahanna spent the week-end with her father, Mr. John White.

Mrs. Annette Brown is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson.

Miss June West of Columbus spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry West.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGhee and daughter Miss Betty were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dickey of Greenfield, Sunday.

Miss Margaret Dunlap has been re-employed to teach in the South Bloomfield schools.

Mr. and Mrs. David B. Metzger of Mansfield were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schwarz of Williamsport, and Mrs. Ida Fullen of Darbyville, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McConnell and Mr. David Betts went to Louisville, Kentucky, over the week-end, to attend the Derby.

Mrs. C. B. Teegardin of near Ashville visited with Mrs. Carl Hurst, Wednesday.

Miss Virginia Marion of Circleville visited with Miss Carolyn Bochart, Sunday afternoon.

The Sorosis Club meeting has been postponed from Monday, May 16th to Monday, May 23rd. Mrs. Lee Luellen is hostess.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday evening, May 15th, in the school auditorium with Rev. W. G. Strickland addressing the twenty-one seniors of Williamsport High School.

The Epworth League of the M. E. Church met at the home of Margaret, Marion, John, and Gene Steinhauser, Tuesday evening. After the devotional topic which was led by Miss Mary Hastings the young people engaged in the playing of games. Delicious refreshments were served at the close. There were about twenty present.

Williamsport can feel justly proud of the float which it had entered in the historical parade at Circleville, Monday, when the ox caravan visited there in celebration of the Northwest Territory sesquicentennial. Committees from the village council and Sorosis Club working together carried out the idea of Williamsport being the oldest village in the county and representing a pioneer family in front of a log cabin, with holly

Testing Discipleship With Service

One day a rich young ruler came running to Jesus and kneeled to him, asking, "Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?"

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Mark 10:17-31.

When he professed to have kept all of God's commandments Jesus tested him by suggesting he sell all he had and give to the poor and then come follow him.

The rich young ruler loved his riches too much to do this. "His countenance fell at the saying and he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions."

Peter showed something of the same selfishness when he said to Jesus, "Lo, we have left all and have followed thee, what then shall we have?" (GOLDEN TEXT—Mark 10:21)

Mark 10:21—"Come, follow me."

Testing Discipleship by Service

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 15 is Mark 10:17-31, the Golden Text being Mark 10:21, "Come, follow me.")

"LOVE AT first sight" always has its perils because it frequently has its disillusionments. Jesus' love for the "Rich Young Ruler" seems to have been somewhat of the nature and experience of "love at first sight."

Quest for Eternal Life
"There ran one to him and kneeled to him and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life? And Jesus said unto him, why callest thou me good? None is good save one, even God." To call Jesus "good" is not enough, for if he is not God as he professed to be, he is not even good! Superficial compliments paid to Jesus' goodness, may, if they go no further, establish kinship with Judas' betrayal of the Son of Man with a kiss. With this challenge to the youth to weigh well his praise of Christ, our Lord proceeded to test his life with the commands meant to govern his relations with his fellowmen: "Thou knowest the commandments. Do not kill. Do not bear false witness. Do not defraud. Honor thy father and mother. And he said unto him, Master, all these things have I observed from my youth, and Jesus looking upon him loved him." Yes, here was "love at first sight."

"One Thing Thou Lackest"
Here was a clean moral youth, who, so far as overt acts of sin were concerned, had lived a blameless life. "Clean as a hound's tooth," we call such a life today. He sincerely felt that his life had been blameless. He had committed no sin, he thought, still his morality left him hungering for something he called "eternal life." Jesus loved him enough to point out his faults. "One thing thou lackest, go, sell whatsoever thou hast and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me." To harm no one is not enough. We may do this and still help no one. God's commands are not fulfilled by refraining from harmful acts of commission, murder, theft, adultery and the like. Negative morality may be perfectly cold and loveless. God's commandments demand a warm, positive outflow of love to our neighbor that will make us want to be helpful to the limit of his need and our ability. Therefore, to show the young ruler that he had failed utterly to keep God's commandments in love, Jesus challenged him to prove his love by service. There are sins of omission as cruel and as heartless as those committed by murderers, adulterers and thieves. And Jesus, severest rebukes seemed to fall upon this class of sin of which the rich young ruler was unconsciously guilty.

The Acid Test
Unwilling to prove his profession of righteousness under the acid test, Jesus suggested, "his countenance fell at the saying and he went away sorrowful: for he was one that had great possessions. And Jesus looked round about and saith unto his disciples, how hardly shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of God!" Where now is the young ruler's eagerness for eternal life? Where now is the love for his neighbor he professed to have from his youth? The center of gravity of his interest is in his riches, which he clutches as he goes away from Christ into oblivion. He made the great refusal because he tried to serve God and Mammon instead of serving God with Mammon.

Church Briefs

The Rev. George Troutman's sermon subjects Sunday are: morning, "The Prodigal that Remained at Home," and evening, "The Sin of Procrastination."

The Rev. Robert Palmer, pastor of the Church of Christ, 451 E. Main street, will preach Sunday morning on the subject "With Jesus Through the Storm." His evening sermon theme will be "Killing Lions."

"My Church and I," and "Called to be Saints" will be the sermon subjects of the Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor of First United Brethren church at the Sunday morning and evening services, respectively.

"Consenting to What" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning. The choir selection will be "Praise Ye the Father," by Gounod. Organ selections throughout the service include Adoration, by Borowski, Souvenir, by Draler, and Triumphal March, by Costa.

The Rev. Herman A. Sayre, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, will preach Sunday morning on the theme "Human Needs." A missionary hymn entitled "My Prayer" will be sung by Mrs. James P. Moffitt. The choir number will be, "I Met the Good Shepherd," by C. F. Bower. Miss Ruby Harris will sing the solo part.

Young folk of the Methodist church will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. An interesting program is being arranged. Virgil Cress is the president of the group.

ST. PAUL A. M. E. CHOR HAS ITS REORGANIZATION

Choir of St. Paul A. M. E. church was reorganized this week. Mrs. Ethel D. Smith is organist, and Miss Ada B. Myers, assistant organist. Members are Mrs. Pearl Holmes, Mitchell Treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Davis, Mrs. Ida Johnston, Jack Holmes, and Mrs. Mary Dalton Johnson.

UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH DISCUSSES BUYING ORGAN

Congregational meeting of members of the First United Brethren church will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Plans for securing a church organ will be discussed. The official board at its meeting last week adopted a resolution that a memorial fund be secured for the purchase of an electric organ and that a meeting of members and officials be called for May 18 for consideration of this resolution.

The church will observe its 100th anniversary as an incorporated body in March, 1939.

WILLIAMSPORT

Mrs. Earl Baker entertained the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Brown's Chapel, at her home, Thursday afternoon, May 5th, with eleven members present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jesse Rose who presided during the business session. The meeting opened with a Meditation played on the piano by Mrs. Baker followed with a chain prayer by the Society, after which the Hymn "Come, Thou Almighty King" was sung. Mrs. Edward Slager was in charge of the Stewardship Service. Mrs. Sherman Campbell was devotional leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Baker played the "Hymn 'O, Master Let Me Walk With Thee'" followed with two songs by the society, "Be Strong" and "The Old Rugged Cross." A report of the group meeting at South Salem was given by Mrs. Rose. Mrs. Annette Brown, program leader, presented a very interesting program which was as follows: Reading, "Our Mohammedan Neighbors," Mrs. Edward Slager; Poem, "Country Homesickness," Mrs. Anna Rudell; Vocal Solo, "Sacrament," Mrs. Hazel McCollister accompanied by Mrs. Roy Anderson; Story, "Vacation for Mother," Mrs. Sherman Campbell; Reading, "There Still Are Mothers," Mrs. David Patton; Poems, "Mother's Day," "The Stick-Together Families," and "Mother's Glasses," Miss Carolyn Bochart. The meeting closed with a song and the Missionary Benediction. The members present were: Mrs. Jesse Rose, Mrs. David Patton, Mrs. Roy Anderson, Mrs. George Bochart, Mrs. Edward Slager, Mrs. Sherman Campbell, Mrs. Anna Rudell, Mrs. Hazel McCollister, Mrs. Annette Brown, Miss Carolyn Bochart and the hostess. During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Roma Slager, June 2nd.

Those from Williamsport who enjoyed a week-end excursion trip to Washington D. C., included Misses Helen Betts, Helen West, Grace Pinsenschaum, and Winona Stonerock, teachers; Misses Betty McGhee, Marjorie Heiskell, Mary Alice Luellen, Sara Jane Godden, and Martha Tipton, Don Russell, Drexel LeMay, Bill Johnson, Marvin McDill, L. V. Ebenhack, and Lyle Miner. Miss Jessie Pinsenschaum of Columbus, also accompanied the local group.

Miss Laura McGhee entertained the Contract Bridge Club with a dinner party at her home, last Friday evening. Her guests were: Mrs. H. J. Bowers of Ashville, Mrs. Russell McDill of Frankfort, Mrs. Harry McGhee, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, Mrs. S. B. Metzger, Mrs. Lee Luellen, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, members, and Miss Virginia Smith, a guest player.

Miss Mary Jones of Newark visited with her mother, Mrs. Lyman Jones, over Mother's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Luellen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond French of Knightstown, Indiana, Sunday. Mrs. Luellen remained to spend the week with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Carmean and daughter Barbara of Lexington were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carmean.

Mrs. Ezra Hill of Columbus visited with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hill part of last week and until Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Hill accompanied her home for a few days.

Miss Alice Tipton of Ohio State University spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Tipton.

Miss Mary White of Gahanna spent the week-end with her father, Mr. John White.

Mrs. Annette Brown is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson.

Miss June West of Columbus spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry West.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGhee and daughter Miss Betty were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dickey of Greenfield, Sunday.

Miss Margaret Dunlap has been re-employed to teach in the South Bloomfield schools.

LADIES OF THE PRESS
WASHINGTON — For real color and sparkle Mrs. Roosevelt's press conferences have it all over her husband's semi-weekly bouts with the Capital news corps.
Naturally the First Lady's press sessions lack the importance which attaches to those of the President. He is head of the National Government and she is not. But although interest in her arises primarily from that fact that she is the President's wife, nevertheless Mrs. Roosevelt's vivid personality and broad humanitarianism, make her an outstanding rival.
Unlike the President's gatherings, which are open to all accredited correspondents, Mrs. Roosevelt's are limited only to women. As a result there are rarely more than thirty present, practically all of them adoring friends of the First Lady. These two factors, a small group plus personal ties, make for another major difference between the two conferences.
Mr. Roosevelt's meetings are unprecedented in their informality, but the atmosphere of Mrs. Roosevelt's is more than just informal. It is intimate in the sense of being a gathering of devoted friends.
When the President faces the press, it is strictly a business proposition. The correspondents are there for news and nothing else. He knows that and acts accordingly. But when Mrs. Roosevelt meets the press, she is up against a far less hard-boiled professional environment. Her conferees are her friends first and reporters afterwards.

FRIENDLY PROTECTORS
The "girls" are always on the alert to protect her from the slip of the tongue or an incautious comment.
Mrs. Roosevelt is an outspoken person and when she feels strongly on a subject she is addicted to a frankness that would blaze headlines across the nation.
"That is ridiculous," she will remark about some incident.
Whereupon her loyal devotees immediately caution: "You mean 'regrettable', don't you, Mrs. Roosevelt?"
"Yes, thank you. I think that would be better," she replies, beaming gratefully.
This loving protectiveness never fails. If the First Lady makes a statement about a controversial issue that might cause embarrassing headlines, one of her feminine cohorts will break in meaningly: "Can we quote you on that, Mrs. Roosevelt?"
Since everything at her conference is quotable unless otherwise specified, this inquiry is a warning signal, always heeded hastily by Mrs. Roosevelt. to turn over. Then he goes on jumping, and eating what he landed on, and so on forever.
It seems like pretty dumb business. Obviously the hopper is never going to get anywhere. That is, intellectually, economically and historically. From age to age, just blindly jumping and eating—when he's lucky—and jumping some more.
And yet, a fellow can't help wondering whether we humans are making much more progress than the hoppers.

The only real internationalism is found in opera. Music always had charms to soothe the savage beast.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour
PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:
With six clocks and four watches in the house did oversleep, for everyone of the timepieces was stopped. When I opened one eye and peeked at my wristwatch the reading was 5:30, so did turn over for a nap and quite some time later noted that the watch still read 5:30. Hurried away to the post, meeting Lawrence Goeller, who looks for a considerable business upturn the last half of the year, and Ray Rowland, the Ralston Purina chief, who was much pleased by rain during the night.
Noted swift progress on the City Loan and Pettit fronts and then chatted with Clark Will, who next week will call a session of his Pickaway County Museum committee. There goes Ed Wallace, whose dozen ponies in the barns and pastured back of my house attract many persons each evening.
Met George Grand-Girard, he just having received a letter from Dr. C. J. Smith, a one-time resident of the ville. Dr. Smith left here about forty years ago, entering the lumber business in Oregon. Today he is a millionaire and lives in Portland.
Attended the mid morning session of the Coffee club, Paul Johnson pouring under protest. Matching coins decided the host for the occasions. Paul's guests included John Hummel, Charlie Gilmore, Chris Schwarz. The scheme was blue.
Dropped in on Phil Stein, the furniture man, and crossed the street to inspect repairs in progress at the new Firestone store. Mrs. Donald H. Watt brought in a great basket of garden flowers, gift of the Garden club. Other baskets were distributed throughout the business district and make a beautiful showing.
Don't forget Air Mail Week. The Chamber of Commerce has provided a special cachet for the occasion, doing honor to our own Ted Lewis. Ted has advertised the ville for years and years. Now is our opportunity to give him a boost.
Chatted with Oscar Howard, the banker, who says he is leaning strongly toward the movie fad. Gene Geib was a brave and swaggering cowboy until he noted that oil was dripping on his head from the crankcase of an automobile under which he was hiding from "Indians." He tried to rub it away, but oil does spread. A wild Indian is one thing, and so is a two-gun bandit, but a mother who had given explicit instructions about keeping clean is altogether something else. So, Gene went home crying because he had forgotten instructions, and in anticipation. Gene still thinks that the man who long years ago declared that there is more pleasure in anticipation than in realization must have been a great philosopher. The kid thinks both are plenty bad.

"Is there any news?"

you say?—gag? A trick for the publicity? Are you married? Is it advertising? It is past the trick stage, Miss Dale!"

Felix Montoya himself was a commanding figure. He was darker of skin than either of his parrots. Black eyes made him strikingly handsome, yet just a little fearful too. He wore some sort of uniform, evidently an officer's service outfit of some kind, Ellen could tell. He was dirty and wrinkled considerably from riding, but one hardly noticed these details now.

With his father constantly talking to him, with his mother now standing by, and with servants slipping anxiously into the picture, Felix began to mount.

"Panola is my sister, Miss Dale! Can you not understand that?"

"Certainly I do. But I tell you she simply came into the dining room after breakfast, told Bill and Mr. Baron—that she had two horses saddled, and asked him to ride with her. I was surprised that she did not invite me too, not that it mattered, but—"

"Panola would have invited you. But she didn't! She vamped Bill and took him alone!"

Instantly Ellen was sorry she had said that. It sounded spiteful. But it was true.

"She vamped him!" echoed Felix, disgust in his tone. "He got funny with her, I tell you! Well, I get funny too! My sister! Nobody's man can come here to make fool of the Montoyas, Miss Dale. We do not get excited about the moving picture trick. You think we are stupid peons! Well, I show him. I run him down, and with my own hands will I tear the vitals from him, the swine!"

Felix was not acting; he meant every word he said and Ellen knew it. She had to say something to convince him.

"Mr. Montoya, it is not reasonable. It is not a trick of any kind. I do not know what happened to them, but I do know it has nothing to do with me or with the moving picture business. Bill Baron never saw me before I hired him and his airplane."

Felix had not listened. He had turned to the servants and was speaking to them in Spanish.

The mother urged him to pause and strengthen himself with food, but all he would take was a mug of coffee offered by a woman. He had ridden all night, but he began at once to organize the search. And, like his father, he strapped on ammunition and guns.

"Mr. Baron was not armed," Ellen told him then. "Nor Panola." Felix looked at her for a long moment.

"I do not expect them to fight, Miss Dale. But Mexico has other dangers, I am sorry to say. If there is no trick, if they have been kidnap or something, then I shall need guns. If he have make a trick, and I find this man, then I shall want guns, too."

"Could they have been kidnaped?" she demanded.

"Well, they are gone!"

"But by whom? And why? I mean—I don't understand why they should just ride off and disappear. I don't understand it. They were practically strangers to each other!"

"We do not understand, either. In Mexico, when one does not understand, one carries guns."

A fresh horse was brought from the corral for him, and three other mounted men, vaqueros of the rancho, appeared also. Ellen noted that the three did not look like Mexicans or Americans either. They were darker, dressed somewhat differently from any of the others.

"Where will you go?" she asked Felix.

"I do not know. My father and other of the men have already been to all the ranches within several miles. Those ranch people will be on the lookout too, and will let us know. There is only one thing left to do, unless you have a better idea? Where do you think your man might possibly take her?"

Ellen's anger mounted at that.

"He is not my man! I tell you, Senor Montoya! Can't I make you believe I know nothing about all this, that I am as confused and as worried as you are? And he did not 'take' her anywhere. She took him. She invited him. I think he didn't even want to go."

"They did not talk? No mention of where they might go?"

"No. Absolutely not. I remember everything they said. I was from him, the swine!"

Felix was not acting; he meant every word he said and Ellen knew it. She had to say something to convince him.

"Mr. Montoya, it is not reasonable. It is not a trick of any kind. I do not know what happened to them, but I do know it has nothing to do with me or with the moving picture business. Bill Baron never saw me before I hired him and his airplane."

DIET AND HEALTH
Damaged Liver causes "Morning After" Taste
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE MAN in the street frequently refers to "biliousness". The Englishman, more often than his American brother, speaks of being "liverish". But your doctor is liable to "scoo-pool" when you say you are bilious. The medical profession has not taken very kindly to the idea that there are functional disorders of the liver which can be recognized and identified by their symptoms.
It is somewhat surprising, therefore, that Sir Arthur Hurst, senior physician at Guy's hospital, London, should choose the subject of "Biliousness and Wind Around the Heart" for the very swanky Harvelan lecture in 1938.
The symptoms, according to Sir Arthur, are that a man wakes up with a dull headache, a dirty tongue, no appetite for breakfast, and the conviction that life is not worth living, tells his wife that his bad temper is due to his liver, and the doctor be damned.
The liver is well provided with means for taking care of poisons, but it is not always capable of destroying them when they arrive in excess.
Among the poisons that most commonly derange the liver is alcohol, and according to tests reported, even a small amount may cause perceptible liver damage. Five young men were tested with the levulose test (which tests the functional capacity of the liver) on different occasions, once on "the morning after the night before", and again when they had been abstemious for several days. In spite of the fact that "the morning after" consisted of only a single case of indulgence, impaired liver function of considerable amount was noted, compared to the normal morning in all five of these human guinea pigs.
Liver Damaged
Continuous and habitual use, of course, is liable to lead to more extensive liver damage. Chronic drinkers usually have a fairly accurate knowledge of the surface anatomy of the liver because they can feel their own livers, and achieving livers among them are not uncommon.
The liver makes a remarkable come-back, however, under favorable circumstances. We have the record of a man who drank a bottle of champagne a day for 20 years. He was thought to be dying from some obscure abdominal complaint; his liver was large, hard and very tender. After three months on a strict diet his liver could no longer be felt and he returned home, perfectly fit, able to play tennis and golf for the first time in five years.
Another one had drunk from one to three bottles of whiskey a day for over a year, but also recovered completely.
The relation between migraine (sick headache) and biliousness has often been emphasized. What is called an attack of biliousness in a child is about the same thing as an attack of migraine in an adult.

SATURDAY, April 2.—No golf for me this year. No, sir—that foolishness is out. Yours truly is turning gardener in 1938, and while the rest of the gang waste time and money digging divots, I'll be digging up luscious vegetables and save plenty on the food budget.
SATURDAY, April 9.—Bought all the tools—Lawn mower, hoe, rake, hedge shears, etc. Also seeds of vegetables and flower seeds. Cost me $85 for the lot, but I'll more than make that back by raising all our vegetables.
SATURDAY, April 16.—Golly, this gardening is a lot tougher than I thought. Guess I'm just not used to it. Ted Niblic called up about golf—told him nothing doing.
SATURDAY, April 23.—I'm afraid I'll need some help getting the garden going this year. Next season I'll be able to handle it all myself. Joe Putter called up, but I told him no golf for me this year.
SATURDAY, April 30.—Should have weeded today, but it looked like rain. Have a fellow working nights in the vegetable patch—only charges 75 cents an hour. Fred Mashie gave me a buzz. Says he heard I'd given up golf. Laughed when I said I had.
SATURDAY, May 7.—Had terrific argument with Mable. She says I haven't touched the garden in two weeks, and that the guy I hired has already cost us $50. Too hot around the house, so I drove out to the Country club—not to play, you understand—but just for the ride and fresh air.

REVOLT IN RIO

GETULIO VARGAS, whether Liberal or Fascist, is a brave man. His vigorous suppression of the palace revolt on the night of May 11 is in the best Latin-American tradition. We North-Americans can spare him a round of vivas. Maybe we're getting our Portuguese twisted, but never mind. That defense of the presidential palace by Vargas and his sons and daughters, through a long and perilous night, armed only with pistols, against a small army of insurgents, picking off rebel after rebel from the darkened windows, is an episode worthy of Richard Harding Davis.

The political ethics of the situation are not entirely clear at this distance. There is still a strong tendency in this latitude to regard Vargas as a Fascist, aiming to make the United States of Brazil—as big as our own country—totalitarian. He certainly has concentrated a good deal of power under the roof of that palace. Yet the insurgents in this case were "Green Shirt Integralists" reported as wearing rebel uniforms under the marine uniforms of the presidential guard, while attacking the man it was their sworn duty to guard.

"Integralist" seems to be the South American term for "Totalitarian." The rebels are charged, whether truly or not, with getting support from the Italian Fascists and German Nazis. There are about 1,500,000 Italians and 500,000 Germans in Brazil. Vargas has insisted that though he has had to use forcible measures in the capital and some outlying cities.

JUST HOPPING

DR. ROBERT K. NABOURS, professor of zoology in Manhattan State College, Kansas, has been studying grasshoppers for 27 years. He has 300,000 of 'em pickled in alcohol, and 40,000 pages of records preserving for posterity the facts he has observed. And this is what he reveals:

Generation after generation, he says, the hoppers are all the same. Their stripes may change a little, but their psychology doesn't. That seems to be cause they have not psychology, no minds, no memories, and never learn anything.

Dr. Nabours has spent nearly half a lifetime trying to find the answer to this momentous question: "When the grasshopper jumps, does he jump with discretion?" In short, has he a purpose in life? Can he learn and progress? The answer is no.

As reported by Columnist Ernie Pyle, the grasshopper always jumps in the direction he was headed before he jumped. He doesn't know where he's going to land, and apparently doesn't care. If he lands on his back, he just lies there until he happens

It seems like pretty dumb business. Obviously the hopper is never going to get anywhere. That is, intellectually, economically and historically. From age to age, just blindly jumping and eating—when he's lucky—and jumping some more.

And yet, a fellow can't help wondering whether we humans are making much more progress than the hoppers.

The only real internationalism is found in opera. Music always had charms to soothe the savage beast.

FIESTA BY OREN ARNOLD

"Is there any news?"

READ THIS FIRST:

Having saved the life of Ellen Dale, screen star, with a lucky parachute jump after his plane had run out of fuel in a terrific storm, Bill Baron and his lone passenger finally arrive at a ranch house across the Mexican border, unharmed but fatigued. Here they are warmly received by Don Julio Montoya, wealthy Mexican, and extended every courtesy. Ellen becomes intrigued with the life at the Montoya ranch and her interest in Bill grows. She feels almost resentful when Panola Montoya, attractive daughter of their host, asks Bill to ride with her. Ellen befriends two Yaqui Indians, taken captive by Felix Montoya, the host's son, for stealing cows. Alarm is felt at the ranch when Bill and Panola fail to return. Don Julio questions Ellen about Bill, still missing, with his daughter, but she can tell him nothing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 6

ELLEN DALE used what she called common sense at about 3 a. m. with still no word from Bill Baron and the Mexican girl, and went determinedly to bed.

Probably it was common sense, at that, because exhaustion immediately dominated her mental turbulence and she went to sleep. She did not even dream. At 6 o'clock, though, a putty-putt putty-putt putty-putt then a commanding "HO!" outside her window awakened her. Instantly she was up and staring out.

"Bill? ... Mr. Baron?" She called but got no answer. "Who is there?" she demanded again. The answer came not direct, but in conversation between the horseman and Don Julio. Felix Montoya, Don Julio's son, had returned. As soon as she could dress, Ellen hastened out to him.

"Is there any news?" she demanded at once.

"I know nothing," he spoke fair English. "Father send a messenger for me at Hermosillo. I have ride fast to get here. All I know is that sister and your man are gone together. Can you not say where?"

Ellen missed the fact that he said "your man"; disappointment had gripped her, hard.

"No," she said. "No, Mr. Mon—Senior Montoya, I have not the slightest idea. Panola came and invited him to ride—he invited him, took him—and they rode away soon after breakfast today. Yesterday I mean. Goodness, it has been almost 24 hours!"

Don Julio spoke crisply to his son in Spanish, and Felix turned again to Ellen.

"This Bill Baron, Miss Dale—who is he? Father is quite concerned, as of course mother and I are too. I am afraid it is time to do something. We demand to know who you are?"

"I am a motion picture actress, and Mr. Baron is an aviator."

"You must admit you came to us under very unusual circumstances. Is it some sort of—how you say?—gag? A trick for the publicity? Are you married? Is it advertising? It is past the trick stage, Miss Dale!"

Felix Montoya himself was a commanding figure. He was darker of skin than either of his parents. Black eyes made him strikingly handsome, yet just a little fearful too. He wore some sort of uniform, evidently an officer's service outfit of some kind, Ellen could tell. He was dirty and wrinkled considerably from riding, but one hardly noticed these details now.

With his father constantly talking to him, with his mother now standing by, and with servants slipping anxiously into the picture, Felix' anger began to mount.

"Panola is my sister, Miss Dale! Can you not understand that?"

"Certainly I do. But I tell you she simply came into the dining room after breakfast, told Bi—

Mr. Baron—that she had two horses saddled, and asked him to ride with her. I was surprised that she did not invite me too, not that it mattered, but—

"Panola would have invite you." "But she didn't! She vamped Bill and took him alone!"

Instantly Ellen was sorry she had said that. It sounded spiteful. But it was true.

"She vamped him!" echoed Felix, disgust in his tone. "He get funny with her, I tell you! Well, I got funny too! My sister! Nobody's man can come here to make fool of the Montoyas, Miss Dale. We do not get excite about the moving picture trick. You think we are stupid peons! Well, I show him. I run him down, and with my own hands will I tear the vitals from him, the swine!"

Felix was not acting; he meant every word he said and Ellen knew it. She had to say something to convince him.

"Mr. Montoya, it is not reasonable. It is not a trick of any kind. I do not know what happened to them, but I do know it has nothing to do with me or with the moving picture business. Bill Baron never saw me before I hired him and his airplane."

Felix had not listened. He had turned to the servants and was speaking to them in Spanish.

The mother urged him to pause and strengthen himself with food, but all he would take was a mug of coffee offered by a woman. He had ridden all night, but he began at once to organize the search. And, like his father, he strapped on ammunition and guns.

"Mr. Baron was not armed," Ellen told him then. "Nor Panola." Felix looked at her for a long moment.

"I do not expect them to fight, Miss Dale. But Mexico has other dangers, I am sorry to say. If there is no trick, if they have been kidnaped or something, then I shall need guns. If he have make a

"Well, they are gone!" "But by whom? And why? I mean—I don't understand why they should just ride off and disappear. I don't understand it. They were practically strangers to each other!"

"We do not understand, either. In Mexico, when one does not understand, one carries guns."

A fresh horse was brought from the corral for him, and three other mounted men, vaqueros of the rancho, appeared also. Ellen noted that the three did not look like Mexicans or Americans either. They were darker, dressed somewhat differently from any of the others.

"Where will you go?" she asked Felix.

"I do not know. My father and other of the men have already been to all the ranches within several miles. Those ranch people will be on the lookout too, and will let us know. There is only one thing left to do, unless you have a better idea? Where do you think your man might possibly take her?"

Ellen's anger mounted at that. "He is not my man I tell you, Senior Montoya! Can't I make you believe I know nothing about all this, that I am as confused and as worried as you are? And he did not 'take' her anywhere. She took him. She invited him. I think he didn't even want to go."

"They did not talk? No mention of where they might go?"

"No. Absolutely not. I remember everything they said. I was—well, I was a little insulted because she took him away from me when we were talking together. Bill and I were making plans."

"I thought you said he was stranger to you also? Not your man?"

"He was. I meant—oh!" She couldn't explain it. Not to a family distressed about a daughter and sister being gone. Not to anyone, probably. Her lip trembled, and Ellen thought she was going to cry in spite of her efforts at self-control.

Felix and the men rode away without another word. Don Julio was preparing to follow, but before mounting he spoke comforting words to his wife, then apparently felt he must say something to Ellen too.

"Fayelex, he have los Indios—three Indian, seniorita; tres Indian, you see?" he held up three fingers and pointed to the men with his son.

"They follow the foot—the track. How you say?"

"The Indians will trail Bill and Panola?"

"Si, seniorita, si!" he was nodding.

DIET AND HEALTH

Damaged Liver causes "Morning After" Taste

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE MAN in the street frequently refers to "biliousness". The Englishman, more often than his American brother, speaks of being "liverish". But your doctor is liable to "pooh-pooh" when you say you are bilious. The medical profession has not taken very kindly to the idea that there are functional disorders of the liver which can be recognized and identified by their symptoms.

It is somewhat surprising, therefore, that Sir Arthur Hurst, senior physician at Guy's hospital, London, should choose the subject of "Business and Wind Around the Heart" for the very swanky Harvelan lecture in 1938.

The symptoms, according to Sir Arthur, are that a man wakes up with a dull headache, a dirty tongue, no appetite for breakfast, and the conviction that life is not worth living, tells his wife that his bad temper is due to his liver, and the doctor be damned.

The liver is well provided with means for taking care of poisons, but it is not always capable of destroying them when they arrive in excess.

Among the poisons that most commonly derange the liver is alcohol, and according to tests reported, even a small amount may cause perceptible liver damage. Five young men were tested with the levulose test (which tests the functional capacity of the liver) on different occasions, once on "the morning after the night before", and again when they had been abstemious for several days. In spite of the fact that "the morning after" consisted of only a single case of indulgence, impaired liver function of considerable amount was noted, compared to the normal morning in all five of these human guinea pigs.

Continuous and habitual use, of course, is liable to lead to more extensive liver damage. Chronic drinkers usually have a fairly accurate knowledge of the surface anatomy of the liver because they can feel their own livers, and aching livers among them are not uncommon.

The liver makes a remarkable come-back, however, under favorable circumstances. We have the record of a man who drank a bottle of champagne a day for 20 years. He was thought to be dying from some obscure abdominal complaint; his liver was large, hard and very tender. After three months on a strict diet his liver could no longer be felt and he returned home, perfectly fit, able to play tennis and golf for the first time in five years.

Another one had drunk from one to three bottles of whiskey a day for over a year, but also recovered completely.

The relation between migraine (sick headache) and biliousness has often been emphasized. What is called an attack of biliousness in a child is about the same thing as an attack of migraine in an adult.

Diary of a Suburbanite

SATURDAY, April 2.—No golf for me this year. No, sir—that foolishness is out. Yours truly is turning gardener in 1938, and while the rest of the gang waste time and money digging ditches, I'll be digging up luscious vegetables and save plenty on the food budget.

SATURDAY, April 9.—Bought all the tools—Lawn mower, hoe, rake, hedge shears, etc. Also seeds of vegetables and flower seeds. Cost me $85 for the lot, but I'll more than make that back by raising all our vegetables.

SATURDAY, April 16.—Golly, this gardening is a lot tougher than I thought. Guess I'm just not used to it. Ted Nibble called up about golf—told him nothing doing.

SATURDAY, April 23.—I'm afraid I'll need some help getting the garden going this year. Next season I'll be able to handle it all myself. Joe Putter called up, but I told him no golf for me this year.

SATURDAY, April 30.—Should have weeded today, but it looked like rain. Have a fellow working nights in the vegetable patch—only charges 75 cents an hour. Fred Mashie gave me a buzz. Says he heard I'd given up golf. Laughed when I said I had.

SATURDAY, May 7.—Had terrific argument with Mable. She says I haven't touched the garden in two weeks, and that the guy I hired has already cost us $50. Too hot around the house, so I drove out to the Country club—not to play, you understand—but just for the ride and fresh air.

SATURDAY, May 14.—Boy, oh boy, oh boy—is this the life! Played in a foursome with those grand fellows, Ted Nibble, Joe Putter and Fred Mashie. And I broke a hundred! No bad for the first time out for the season. But, boy, wait until I get my old swing going—then watch me!

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

With six clocks and four watches in the house did oversleep, for everyone of the timepieces was stopped. When I opened one eye and peeked at my wristwatch the reading was 5:30, so did turn over for a nap and quite some time later noted that the watch still read 5:30. Hurried away to the post, meeting Lawrence Goeller, who looks for a considerable business upturn the last half of the year, and Ray Rowland, the Ralston Purina chief, who was much pleased by rain during the night.

Don't forget Air Mail Week. The Chamber of Commerce has

Chatted with Oscar Howard, the banker, who says he is leaning strongly toward the movie fad. Gene Geib was a brave and swaggering cowboy until he noted that oil was dripping on his head from the crankcase of an automobile under which he was hiding from "Indians." He tried to rub it away, but oil does spread. A wild Indian is one thing, and so is a two-gun bandit, but a mother who had given explicit instructions about keeping clean is altogether something else. So, Gene went home crying because he had forgotten instructions, and in anticipation. Gene stills thinks that the man who long years ago declared that there is more pleasure in anticipation than in realization must have been a great philosopher. The kid thinks both are plenty bad.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

BOTH WOODPECKERS and flickers prefer to make their nests at the bottom of a deep, dark hole in a hollow tree. Thereafter if we want to coax these birds to nest in the garden we must put up just the right kind of a house.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, a house intended for woodpeckers or flickers should be covered with bark. A wooden box can be made and covered with strips of bark, or better still, make the house from wood from which the bark has not been stripped. After the house is made place a handful of sawdust in the bottom of it to facilitate the building of the nest.

A house intended for a red-head woodpecker should have a floor space six by six inches square. The entrance hole should be made two inches in diameter and drilled about 12 inches above the floor. The house should hang from 12 to 30 feet above the ground.

A flicker house should have a floor seven by seven inches square. The entrance hole should be two and one-half inches in diameter and 16 inches above the floor. Hang the house from 6 to 20 feet above the ground.

Palm, Miss Ruby Harris pleased the group with a vocal solo, "The Call of Home". Flowers were presented to the mothers present. Refreshments were served.

The next group program meeting will be May 26 at Scioto Valley grange with Washington grange furnishing the program.

Garden Party
Mrs. Fred Brunner and Mrs. H. P. Folsom of Circleville were among the guests at a garden party at the home of Mrs. Burton Stevenson, Carlisle Hill, Chillicothe, Friday.

Mrs. Stevenson received her guests at the back of her attractive garden which is filled with masses of roses in full bloom and many rare and unusual plants grown from seeds which she has brought home with her from Europe. Tea and coffee were served at small tables on the lawn. The guests passed the pleasant hours in visiting and viewing the well planned garden.

Kingston Banquet
The Junior class of Kingston high school entertained the Senior class at the traditional banquet, Friday evening, at the school. The room was arranged as a Japanese garden, the flower arrangement and lighting being in keeping with this theme. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock to members of the Junior and Senior classes and the faculty of the school.

Miss Lucille Miner, president of the Junior class, served as toastmistress and welcomed the guests. Miss Jessie Ann Mowery sang a solo for the next number of the program. Goldthrit Weaver, president of the Senior class, responded for the guests. Miss Mary Hempleman played a piano solo, and Misses Alice Whitten and Jean Washington continued the program with a vocal duet. Nelson Sutherland, superintendent of Kingston schools, gave the address of the evening choosing for his subject, "Round the Corner".

The seniors included Goldthrit Weaver, Ralph Minser, Mary Gardner, Pearl Arnold, Ruth Carter, Pauline Cobb, Mary Ann Dresbach, Mildred Harrison, John Jeffries, Richard Claine, Flora Kuder, Walter Polen, Mary and Royal Triplet.

Members of the school faculty present were Mr. Sutherland, Miss Margaret Germain, Miss Hempleman, Miss Mildred Hampton, Grover Miraben, A. Dane Ellis, William Wise, and Maurice King.

Dinner Guests
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waple of near Circleville entertained at dinner Wednesday at their home. Their guests included Mrs. Austin Wilson, Mrs. Harry Wright, Mrs. Alva Markins and children of Pickaway township; Mrs. Ira Seitz and daughter, Mrs. Arland Seitz and Mrs. Jacob Deffenbaugh of Amanda. Games and music were enjoyed during the afternoon.

Presby-Weds
Spring flowers formed the attractive centerpiece on the table when the Presby-Weds enjoyed a covered dish dinner at the home of Miss Margaret Hunsicker, Friday.

Twenty-one members and guests were served at 6:30 o'clock. Several guests present for the meeting will become members of the organization, which is comprised of the younger members of the Presbyterian church. Contests and discussions were included in the program for the affair. Donald H. Watt was chairman of the program committee and was assisted by Donald Walker and Franklin Price.

A steak roast was planned for the June meeting. It will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolford, Pickaway township.

Sewing Club
Mrs. Henry Mader of Pinckney street entertained the members of her sewing club Friday. The afternoon was passed in social chat and visiting the flower garden of the home which is at its best at this time. A delightful lunch was served at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Alice Riegel of Kingston was present for the affair, and invited the club to meet with her in two weeks.

Mrs. Walter Dunlap of Wayne township shopped in Circleville, Friday.

KELLSTADT TELLS OF CARAVAN TRIP

Pupils and teachers of the high school had a look-in on the "human" side of the Northwest Territory caravan trek Tuesday morning when Bill Kellstadt and two companions, members of the modern pioneer party, spoke before an assembly.

Bill, a graduate of the class of '36, with Robert Neary of Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., and Carl Applegate of Terre Haute, Ind., told of their travels. Each explained in part the activities of the caravan since last December when the trek from Ipswich, Mass., began.

In speaking of modern hardships the boys explained that they were no sissies. It seemed to them that the original pioneers, who had Indians and the wilds to contend with, had nothing on their imitators.

"Things seem to balance—when we built our boat to come down the river to Marietta, we had to find our lumber at a distance and carry it; theirs was right there on the river bank," explained one of the boys.

"Our Indians are of a different type, but in some ways they are worse, swiping our implements, carving initials on the wagon, and tearing our clothes!"

Bill concluded the program expressing the boys' appreciation of the welcome they had received in Circleville.

EDITORIAL

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," is a saying with a lot of truth in it. A city which tries to give extra pleasures and benefits to its people is the one whose citizens are most likely to be happy, healthy and orderly.

Parks are the most common things make for public recreation. Other cities have parks. They were provided for in the original plans of the town or have since been gained through the W.P.A. Both are results of a realization that a park is as vital to a community as its churches, schools, and sanitation. A community is shirking its duty, is negligent in its responsibility, when it does not concern itself as seriously about its recreation as it does about its social, industrial, and business needs.

A park (now Park Place) was offered the city of Circleville one time, but Council failed to accept it. A few years ago a project to establish a park failed of fruition because a group of citizens believed a park unnecessary because the city had progressed thus far without one. This answer or logic is shallow. Neither did we have automobiles or parish houses, tennis courts, or a more complete school plant, but who today denies their values—or who today would do without these things?

Another drive for the same purpose would be useless unless all civic bodies, fraternal organizations, social and luncheon clubs, church organizations, and veterans' groups, joined in one unit for one purpose to make such a project big enough and complete enough so that all rich and poor, young and old could share in its benefits. It can be done!

Lancaster, Chillicothe, cities all around us have a park. They have parks because they furnish a breathing place in uncomfortable weather for those who cannot go far or have not the means to go anywhere else. It is a haven for children and adults, reunions, picnics, and many other activities.

Even the Puritans and early settlers saw the necessity of rest from work, recreation when the day was done, by providing in the very center of their villages and towns a park in which their citizens might play and rest. Dare we admit our selfishness and lack of interest in not doing as much for our people?

Just as "idleness is the devil's workshop" so is a city which makes no provision for recreation, contributing to the delinquencies of its people. A park can reduce auto accidents and tragedies. A park can increase the health, improve physical standards, reduce delinquency, curtail social problems for which our city pays so much in so many other ways. Indirectly yet evidently these are all due to the lack of a park that would provide planned play and recreation, that would eliminate many of the above tragedies or, at least, greatly reduce them.

Wednesday, Senior girl reserves planned a candy sale for next Thursday, May 19. They will elect officers for the coming year next week.

An amusing program, consisting of funny acts from each girl, ended the meeting.

JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES TO ENTERTAIN SENIOR GROUP

Climaxing the Girl reserve year, the Junior group will entertain its sister organization with a weiner roast, Tuesday, May 17. Each member of the club will have as her guest for the outing a senior girl.

The combined clubs will hike to Marion's bridge where the picnic will be held.

JR. RESERVES HOLD BANQUET

Members of the Junior girl reserves and their mothers enjoyed a banquet, Tuesday evening, in the social room of the high school. The dinner began with an orange cocktail after which the main course was served consisting of potatoes, new peas and a delicious salad, followed by dessert and coffee.

Marilyn Lutz, president of the club, welcomed the mothers and Mrs. Loren Lutz, mother of the president, responded.

For the past year it has been the custom of the Junior girl reserves to present to its most outstanding members rings of recognition. Miss Mariel Sayre, adviser of the club, made a few introductory remarks explaining the purposes and goal of the club. After this brief talk she presented rings to the following people who have been most active in the club and who by the choice of the cabinet most deserved this honor, Marilyn Lutz, president; Betty Cooper, vice-president; Jean Kinney, secretary; Mary Jane Bowers, treasurer; Barbara Johnson, Regina Thornton, and Pollyanna Friedman.

The rings are made of sterling silver with the letters G. R. engraved on them. Along with the rings corsages of sweetpeas were presented to the honored girls.

The program under the supervision of Regina Thornton was presented after the dinner. It included a duet "Dark Eyes," played by Joanne Conyers and Bonita Hulise, and a piano selection by Patricia Bennett. After this the girl reserve song, "Follow the Gleam," concluded the evening.

Mrs. Frank Barnhill and Mrs. Kenneth Ulm, who are honorary advisers of the club were also present as guests.

MOORE, MOFFITT MARIONNETTES

Moore and Moffitt's Greater Shows will present before a high school audience on May 23 a novel marionette performance starring a completely new troupe of actors and actresses.

Philip Moore and James Moffitt, partners in the show business, hope to have ready at this time their own version of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Also to receive top billing is the Donald Duck band which will make its debut at the high school. A small admission will be charged to cover expenses.

Moore and Moffitt are assisted by Joanne Conyers, Martin Walters, and James Price.

At a later date the company will stage a similar presentation open to the public, to be sponsored by the junior department of the Methodist church.

GOOD ACTING HIGHLIGHT OF HI GRADUATES

Circleville high school's auditorium was filled to capacity again Friday night for the final presentation of "Jane Eyre," outstanding senior class play.

Perfect acting by all characters and a swift moving story that held the interest of the audience from start to finish were combined to make the play the best ever presented by a graduating class. Those who failed to see the class play missed an unusual treat.

Although the story was written nearly 100 years ago, its appeal has never waned. Attractive costumes from the 1850s lent a high-light to the production.

Acting in both presentations of the play was far above any criticism. Samuel R. Johnson, dramatics coach, was highly complimented for his direction of the production.

The play was a difficult one to present. It requires dialects in the parts of a number of the characters and screams that caused the audience to practically jump out of their seats. The character acting was perfectly executed and was a feature of the show.

All who had part in making "Jane Eyre" such success deserve congratulations.

MEMORIAL HALL SCENE OF JR.-SR.

A change has been made concerning the place of the junior-senior banquet. Instead of the social room of the high school building as previously announced, it is going to be held at the Memorial Hall. This change was made because it was thought that the social room would be too small for so large a crowd.

Various chairmen have their committees working in preparation for the banquet. A new plan is being tried by the junior class. The mothers of the students in this class will plan and prepare the meal. Mrs. Stanley Glick is acting as chairman.

Entertainment for the evening will consist of the following: toasts by the presidents of both classes, Frank Barnhill, the junior, and Edwin Bach, the senior; Frank Fischer, the faculty speaker; Lawrence Goeller, the school board speaker; Robert Pickardt, a song; and musical selections by Wanda Seymour, Edward Ebert, and Carl Martin.

SRS. THANK TOWNSPEOPLE FOR ASSISTANCE IN PLAY

"Jane Eyre," the senior class play, received much favorable comment following its two performances on Thursday and Friday. Much credit must go to Samuel Johnson, dramatic coach, for his tireless work in making the production a success.

Members of the senior class wish to thank the following people for the properties which they lent: Mrs. Jacob Bowers, Circleville Iron and Metal Co., Mrs. Ralph Curtin, Mrs. O. H. Dunton, Mrs. Anna Florence, Mrs. Laurence Goeller, Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. Edna Newmyer, Mrs. G. I. Nickerson, Miss Magdalene Trump, and Mrs. Clark Will.

Mrs. Brunelle Parrett Downing, Mrs. Virgil Cress, and Miss Margaret Mathison are also thanked for their assistance in making up the cast.

J. D. Barricklow's and Fred Watts supervision of the ticket board on Thursday and Friday nights respectively is greatly appreciated.

The seniors wish to thank John Ryan for letting them use his place of business, The Hamilton and Ryan pharmacy, for the reservation of the tickets.

TWENTY FRESHMAN GIRLS SERVE JUNIOR FUNCTION

Twenty freshmen girls were selected to serve at the Junior-Senior banquet which will be held on May 27.

Those who were chosen are Margaret Adkins, Wanita Barr, Helen Beck, Betty Clifton, Jane Colville, Joan Downing, Marjorie Fricke, Polly Anna Friedman, Peggy Goeller, Rose Ann Griner, Eileen Kirby, Jane Klingensmith, Jane Metzger, Virginia Niles, Mary Ruth Owens, Mary Kathryn Pile, Betty Sapp, Mary Schreiner, Mary Adele Snider and Phyllis Young.

From Honeymoon to a HOME all their OWN!

The wedding was only a few months off. John was talking about renting. "We will not!" Helen exclaimed. "Not when rent money will build a home of our own!"

So it was that John visited The Circleville Savings Bank to inquire about a mortgage loan. Much to his surprise he found that only a small down payment was required, and that the monthly payments covering principal, interest, taxes and insurance would be no more than he had planned paying out for rent.

Why don't you, too, get full information regarding a long-term, low-cost, self-reduction mortgage loan? It's the easiest way to build or buy a home of your own.

Eastern Star Inspection An Outstanding Event

Many Visitors In Circleville For Major Affair

One of the outstanding social events of the year was the annual inspection of Circleville Chapter No. 90, Order of the Eastern Star, Friday evening in Masonic Temple. A profusion of Spring flowers in an array of lovely colors intermingled with tall candelabra formed an attractive setting for the work of the order.

Tables for the 6:30 o'clock dinner were centered with a choice assortment of flowers the tall vases being tied with large bows of cellophane in the five colors of the O. E. S. Flat flower arrangements of iris and mock orange alternated with tall bouquets of painted daisies. Here and there were placed miniature covered wagons drawn by oxen and tiny covered wagons were the favors at each place.

The beautiful gowns of the guests together with the table decorations formed a most attractive picture. Miss Virginia Marion, worthy matron, was presented a gift from members of her bridge club, during the dinner hour. A corsage from the grand officers of 1937 was presented Miss Marie Hamilton.

One hundred and fifty were served at the banquet. Informal reception preceded the banquet when the distinguished guests were received by Miss Marion.

After the opening of the chapter Miss Jessie N. Peck of Postoria, worthy grand matron, was presented a sheaf of red roses and welcomed to the meeting. Miss Peck served as inspecting officer. Mrs. Charles P. Clark of Columbus sang, "Others," at the request of Miss Marion. Miss Hamilton and C. C. Chappellear of Circleville, past grand officers were presented and escorted East. Miss Hamilton was given a bouquet of pink roses. The visiting grand officers were then welcomed and escorted East including Mrs. Fairy Gingers of Columbus, associate grand conductress; Miss Myrtle Wallace of Bellaire, grand marshal; Mrs. Dudley Roth of New Holland, deputy grand matron of the 23rd district; Mrs. Leona Dippel, of Lakewood, grand Ruth; Mrs. Jessie Riley, Columbus, grand Esther; Mrs. G. May Sharpe of Shaker Heights, grand warder. The grand representatives presented and escorted East included Ivy Wallace, Florence Reed, Florence Mackenzie, Kathryn Redman, Mabel Boylman, Lydia Alexander, Eleanor Giest, Freda Overbeck, Allene K. Story, Margaret Coleman and May Hill. Mrs. Roth was presented a corsage from the Circleville Chapter. The 1938 matrons and patrons were presented as were the past matrons and patrons of Circleville Chapter.

The grand officers of last year were welcomed by Miss Hamilton. Ritualistic work was given by the officers of the chapter, followed by an impressive address by Miss Peck. Gifts were presented Miss Peck, Mrs. Roth and Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Edward Helwage headed the dinner committee assisted by Mrs. Mae Groom, Mrs. George Valentine, Mrs. Josephine Bochart, Mrs. L. B. Davison, Mrs. R. F. Lilly and Mrs. Sam Morris. Mrs. Charles Smith was in charge of the dining room. Her assistants included Mrs. G. H. Adkins, Mrs. C. C. Watts, Mrs. C. H. Palm, Mrs. Fred Moeller, Miss Eloise Hilyard, Mrs. Ralph Ward, Mrs. L. W. Kinsey and Mrs. Robert Denman. The flowers used in the dining room were furnished by the members of the Pickaway Garden club. Mrs. Lilly, Mrs. A. J. Lyle and Mrs. Dan McClain arranged the decorations for the affair.

Inspection breakfast was held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Gold Cliff Chateau for the pleasure of the visiting grand officers and other distinguished visitors. Covers were placed for 60. The tables were attractively centered with vases of painted daisies and roses. Favors of May baskets were at each place. The affair was sponsored by the Past Matrons' Circle of the O. E. S. under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Johnson. Miss Hamilton, Mrs. C. D. Bennett and Mrs. G. L. Schlar assisted Mrs. Johnson in arranging the affair.

Presbyterian Missionary Society Latin-American people were studied at the Friday meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary society in the social room of the church. Miss Bertha Bowers, president, was in the chair and the devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey, Mrs. Kelsey, Miss Mary Foreman and Mrs. Charles Smith were on the program committee for the day. Mrs. E. O. Crites reviewed the second chapter of the year's study book, "Moving Millions".

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

BOTH WOODPECKERS and flickers prefer to make their nests at the bottom of a deep, dark hole in a hollow tree. Thereafter if we want to coax these birds to nest in the garden we must put up just the right kind of a house.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, a house intended for woodpeckers or flickers should be covered with bark. A wooden box can be made and covered with strips of bark, or better still, make the house from wood from which the bark has not been stripped. After the house is made place a handful of sawdust in the bottom of it to facilitate the building of the nest.

A house intended for a red-head woodpecker should have a floor space six by six inches square. The entrance hole should be made two inches in diameter and drilled about 12 inches above the floor. The house should hang from 12 to 30 feet above the ground.

A flicker house should have a floor seven by seven inches square. The entrance hole should be two and one-half inches in diameter and 16 inches above the floor. Hang the house from 6 to 20 feet above the ground.

Bark-covered bird houses

Palm, Miss Ruby Harris pleased the group with a vocal solo, "The Call of Home". Flowers were presented to the mothers present. Refreshments were served.

The next group program meeting will be May 26 at Scioto Valley grange with Washington grange furnishing the program.

Garden Party

Mrs. Fred Brunner and Mrs. H. P. Folsom of Circleville were among the guests at a garden party at the home of Mrs. Burton Stevenson, Carlisle Hill, Chillicothe, Friday.

Mrs. Stevenson received her guests at the back of her attractive garden which is filled with masses of roses in full bloom and many rare and unusual plants grown from seeds which she has brought home with her from Europe. Tea and coffee were served at small tables on the lawn.

The guests passed the pleasant hours in visiting and viewing the well planned garden.

Kingston Banquet

The Junior class of Kingston high school entertained the Senior class at the traditional banquet, Friday evening, at the school. The room was arranged as a Japanese garden, the flower arrangement and lighting being in keeping with this theme. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock to members of the Junior and Senior classes and the faculty of the school.

Miss Lucille Miner, president of the Junior class, served as toast-mistress and welcomed the guests. Miss Jessie Ann Mowery sang a solo for the next number of the program. Goldthrift Weaver, president of the Senior class, responded for the guests. Miss Mary Hempleman played a piano solo, and the Misses Alice Whitten and Jean Washington continued the program with a vocal duet, Nelson Sutherland, superintendent of Kingston schools, gave the address of the evening choosing for his subject, "Round the Corner".

The seniors included Goldthrift Weaver, Ralph Minner, Mary Gardner, Pearl Arnold, Ruth Cather, Pauline Cobb, Mary Ann Dresbach, Mildred Harrison, John Jeffries, Richard Cline, Flora Kuder, Walter Polen, Mary and Royal Triplet.

Members of the school faculty present were Mr. Sutherland, Miss Margaret Germain, Miss Hempleman, Miss Mildred Hampton.

Mrs. Henry Mader of Pinckney street entertained the members of her sewing club Friday. The afternoon was passed in social chat and visiting the flower garden of the home which is at its best at this time. A delightful lunch was served at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Alice Riegel of Kingston was present for the affair, and invited the club to meet with her in two weeks.

Mrs. Walter Dunlap of Wayne township shopped in Circleville, Friday.

Capacity Audience Sees Senior Play

KELLSTADT TELLS OF CARAVAN TRIP

Pupils and teachers of the high school had a look-in on the "human" side of the Northwest Territory caravan trek Tuesday morning when Bill Kellstadt and two companions, members of the modern pioneer party, spoke before an assembly.

Bill, a graduate of the class of '36, with Robert Neary of Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., and Carl Applegate of Terre Haute, Ind., told of their travels. Each explained in part the activities of the caravan since last December when the trek from Ipswich, Mass., began.

In speaking of modern hardships the boys explained that they were no sissies. It seemed to them that the original pioneers, who had Indians and the wilds to contend with, had nothing on their imitators.

"Things seem to balance—when we built our boat to come down the river to Marietta, we had to find our lumber at a distance and carry it; theirs was right there on the river bank," explained one of the boys.

"Our Indians are of a different type, but in some ways they are worse, swiping our implements, carving initials on the wagon, and tearing our clothes!"

Bill concluded the program expressing the boys' appreciation of the welcome they had received in Circleville.

EDITORIAL

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." is a saying with a lot of truth in it. A city which tries to give extra pleasures and benefits to its people is the one whose citizens are most likely to be happy, healthy and orderly.

Parks are the most common ties make for public recreation. Other cities have parks. They were provided for in the original plans of the town or have since been gained through the W.P.A. Both are results of a realization that a park is as vital to a community as its churches, schools, and sanitation. A community is shirking its duty, is negligent in its responsibility, when it does not concern itself as seriously about its recreation as it does about its social, industrial, and business needs.

A park (now Park Place) was offered the city of Circleville one time, but Council failed to accept it. A few years ago a project to establish a park failed of fruition because a group of citizens was not interested. These citizens believed a park unnecessary because the city had progressed through far without one. This answer or logic is shallow. Neither did we have automobiles or parish houses, tennis courts, or a more complete school plant, but who today denies their values—or who today would do without these things?

Another drive for the same purpose would be useless unless all civic bodies, fraternal organizations, social and luncheon clubs, church organizations, and veterans' groups, joined in one unit for one purpose to make such a project big enough and complete enough so that all rich and poor, young and old could share in its benefits. It can be done!

Lancaster, Chillicothe, cities all around us have a park. They have parks because they furnish a breathing place in uncomfortable weather for those who cannot go far or have not the means to go anywhere else. It is a haven for children and adults, reunions, picnics, and many other activities.

Even the Puritans and early settlers saw the necessity of rest from work, recreation when the day was done, by providing in the very center of their villages and towns a park in which their citizens might play and rest. Dare we admit our selfishness and lack of interest by not doing as much for our people?

Just as "idleness is the devil's workshop" so is a city which makes no provision for recreation, contributing to the delinquencies of its people. A park can reduce auto accidents and tragedies. A park can increase the health, improve physical standards, reduce delinquency, curtail social problems for which our city pays so much in so many other ways. Indirectly yet evidently these are all due to the lack of a park that would provide planned play and recreation, that would eliminate many of the above tragedies or, at least, greatly reduce them.

JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES TO ENTERTAIN SENIOR GROUP

Climaxing the Girl reserve year, the Junior group will entertain its sister organization with a weiner roast, Tuesday, May 17. Each member of the club will have as her guest for the outing a senior girl.

The combined clubs will hike to Marion's bridge where the picnic will be held.

JR. RESERVES HOLD BANQUET

Members of the Junior girl reserves and their mothers enjoyed a banquet, Tuesday evening, in the social room of the high school. The dinner began with an orange cocktail after which the main course was served consisting of potatoes, new peas and a delicious salad, followed by dessert and coffee.

Marilyn Lutz, president of the club, welcomed the mothers and Mrs. Loren Lutz, mother of the president, responded.

For the past year it has been the custom of the Junior girl reserves to present to its most outstanding members rings of recognition. Miss Mariel Sayre, adviser of the club, made a few introductory remarks explaining the purposes and goal of the club. After this brief talk she presented rings to the following people who have been most active in the club and who by the choice of the cabinet most deserved this honor. Marilyn Lutz, president; Betty Cooper, vice-president; Jean Kinney, secretary; Mary Jane Bowers, treasurer; Barbara Johnson, Regina Thornton, and Pollyanna Friedman.

The rings are made of sterling silver with the letters G. R. engraved on them. Along with the rings corsages of sweetpeas were presented to the honored girls.

The program under the supervision of Regina Thornton was presented after the dinner. It included a duet "Dark Eyes," played by Joanne Conyers and Bonita Hulse, and a piano selection by Patricia Bennett. After this the girl reserve song, "Follow the Gleam," concluded the evening.

Mrs. Frank Barnhill and Mrs. Kenneth Ulm, who are honorary advisers of the club were also present as guests.

MOORE, MOFFITT MARIONNETTES

Moore and Moffitt's Greater Shows will present before a high school audience on May 23 a novel marionette performance starring a completely new troupe of actors and actresses.

Philip Moore and James Moffitt, partners in the show business, hope to have ready at this time their own version of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Also to receive top billing is the Donald Duck band which will make its debut at the high school. A small admission will be charged to cover expenses.

Moore and Moffitt are assisted by Joanne Conyers, Martin Walters, and James Price.

At a later date the company will stage a similar presentation open to the public, to be sponsored by the Junior department of the Methodist church.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU.
BY BOB BURNS

A man who worries himself a lot to make a lot of money ain't gonna be any better off in the end because after he gets it, he'll worry himself to death tryin' to keep it.
The other day I met my uncle, Skinny Flint—that's my stinky uncle—and he told me that his nerves weren't too hard. I says, "Well, maybe you're workin' too hard." And he says, "No, I've got plenty of money and I don't have'ta work. All I do now is fish."

I says, "Well, fishin' oughta be the best thing in the world for your nerves," and he says, "Yeah—well you just try fishin' without a fishin' license."

Radio Highlights

SUNDAY

Howard Barlow . . . summer series "Everybody's Music"—CBS 2 p. m.

The first of a series of summer broadcasts by American Conductor Howard Barlow and the Columbia Symphony Orchestra will be heard over CBS this Sunday afternoon.

Henry M. Neeley, "Old Stager," will again be commentator for this program.

Parrots . . . talking contest. America's First National Parrot Contest—NBC-Red, 2:30 p. m.

Parrots from eight cities will be heard in a contest to determine the champion talker of the parrot world. These outstanding exponents of speech will be judged on diction, originality of expression, vocabulary and voice quality.

Bruna Castagna . . . "Sunday Evening Hour"—CBS, 8 p. m.

Like many other singing greats, Mme. Castagna is an excellent pianist. Her first operatic role was Mariana in "Boris Godunoff" at the Teatro Sociale of Mantua in her native Italy. She made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company in 1936.

LORETTA IN THEATRE

Hollywood's glamorous Loretta Young is "The Girl From Tenth Avenue" in the Radio Theatre on Monday, May 16. She plays the title role in this play to be broadcast over the Columbia network at 8 p. m. with Cecil B. DeMille as producer.

"The Girl From Tenth Avenue" is the story of Miriam Brady who meets Geoffrey Sherwood outside a church just as his former fiancée is getting married. Miriam is a girl from the slums with a Broadway veneer. She takes Geoffrey in hand until his desperate mood is over and by that time she is in love with him.

FIBBER LOOKS FOR JOB

Since being fired from his job as theatre manager last week because of his ambition as an orchestra leader, Fibber (I-Don't-Like-Work-Anyway) McGee has been relaxing but bids fair to turn up with another hair-brained adventure during his weekly broadcast at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 17 over an NBC-Red network.

Clark Dennis, moonbeam-voiced tenor, promises to sing "I've Got You Under My Skin," and Billy Mills and the orchestra will contribute: "You Do Something to Me," "Why d'Ya Make Me Fall In Love?," "I Want to Go Back to Bali" and "Says My Heart."

Crowing Roosters Irk City

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The most annoying noise in the city of St. Louis is the crowing of roosters, according to a number of protests received by the anti-noise committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Aborigine May Be M.P.

CANBERRA, Australia (UP)—Governmental circles are seriously discussing the advisability of having at least one aborigine elected to parliament in order that the house may have first hand information on questions relating to the aboriginal population. New Zealand established the precedent of having full-blooded Maoris in parliament several years ago.

Night Watchman Forgets

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—R. T. Williams, night watchman, is going to be wary of strangers hereafter. Two affable men stopped by for a chat while Williams was watching a downtown garage. The watchman dozed, and the two strangers departed with $19 from his purse.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU
BY BOB BURNS

A man who worries himself a lot to make a lot of money ain't gonna be any better off in the end because after he gets it, he'll worry himself to death tryin' to keep it.

The other day I met my uncle, Skinny Flint—that's my stingy uncle—and he told me that his nerves were all shot. I says, "Well, maybe you're workin' too hard," and he says, "No, I've got plenty of money and I don't have'ta work. All I do now is fish."

I says, "Well, fishin' oughta be the best thing in the world for your nerves," and he says, "Yeah—well you just try fishin' without a fishin' license."

SUNDAY

Howard Barlow... summer series "Everybody's Music"—CBS 2 p. m.

The first of a series of summer broadcasts by American Conductor Howard Barlow and the Columbia Symphony Orchestra will be heard over CBS this Sunday afternoon.

Henry M. Neeley, "Old Stager," will again be commentator for this program.

Parrots... talking contest America's First National Parrot Contest—NBC-Red, 2:30 p. m.

Parrots from eight cities will be heard in a contest to determine the champion talker of the parrot world. These outstanding exponents of speech will be judged on diction, originality of expression, vocabulary and voice quality.

Bruna Castagna... "Sunday Evening Hour"—CBS, 8 p. m.

Like many other singing greats, Mme. Castagna is an excellent pianist. Her first operatic role was Mariana in "Boris Godunoff" at the Teatro Sociale of Mantua in her native Italy. She made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company in 1936.

LORETTA IN THEATRE

Hollywood's glamorous Loretta Young is "The Girl From Tenth Avenue" in the Radio Theatre on Monday, May 16. She plays the title role in this play to be broadcast over the Columbia network at 8 p. m. with Cecil E. DeMille as producer.

"The Girl From Tenth Avenue" is the story of Miriam Brady who meets Geoffrey Sherwood outside a church just as his former fiancée is getting married. Miriam is a girl from the slums with a Broadway veneer. She takes Geoffrey in hand until his desperate mood is over and by that time she is in love with him.

FIBBER LOOKS FOR JOB Since being fired from his job as theatre manager last week because of his ambition as an orchestrator, Fibber (I-Don't-Like-Work-Anyway) McGee has been relaxing but bids fair to turn up with another hair-brained adventure during his weekly broadcast at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 17 over an NBC-Red network.

Clark Dennis, moonbeam-voiced tenor, promises to sing "I've Got You Under My Skin," and Billy Mills and the orchestra will contribute: "You Do Something to Me," "Why d'Ya Make Me Fall In Love?" "I Want to Go Back to Bali" and "Says My Heart."

SCOUTS START TO ENROLL FOR CAMPING PERIOD

Reservation Near Delaware

To Attract Many Boys During Summer

Seven boys from Troop 107 and two boys from Troop 58 are the first local Scouts to register for the approaching Summer camping season at the Boy Scout Reservation, near Delaware.

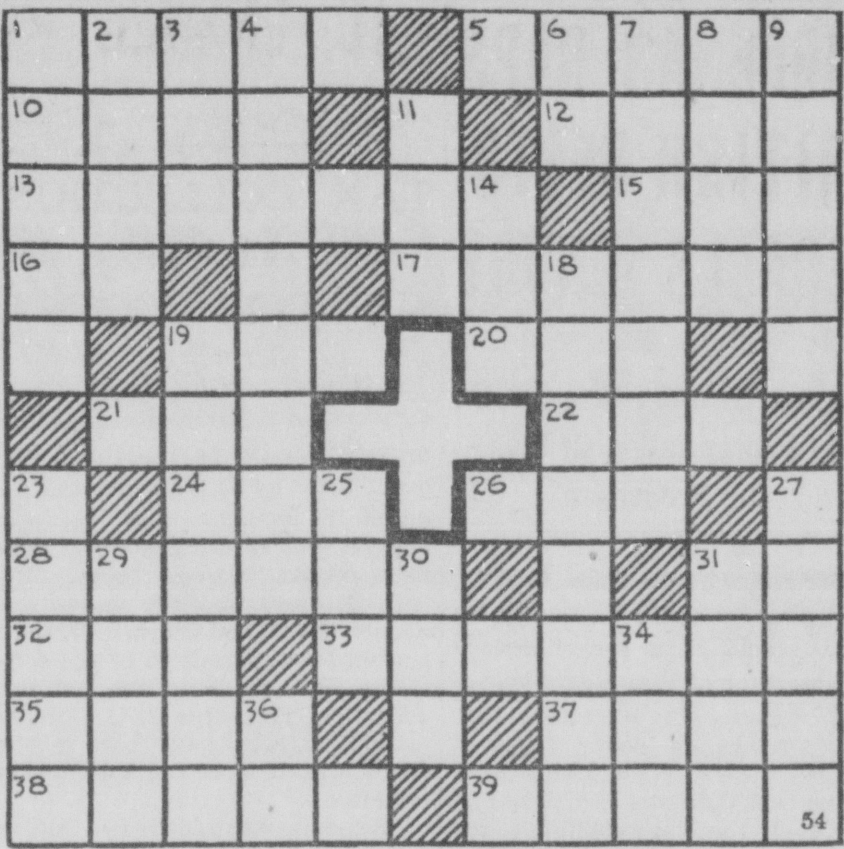

Following are the Scouts who have indicated that they intend to go to the local Council camp the first two week period, starting July 6, Carl Bach, David Yates, George Helwagen, Paul Helwagen, Dick Clifton, Howard Moore, Don Goodchild, Dean Sayre and David Orr. Several of these boys were at the camp last season.

The Scout Reservation, owned and operated by the Central Ohio Area Council, of which the Pickaway district is a part, is located four miles south of Delaware on Route 23. Three years ago the camp was completely rehabilitated by the council camping committee under the leadership of Byron P. Redman, now council president.

It represents an investment of more than $100,000 belonging to the eight counties which comprise the local council.

The season this year will consist of three two-week periods. Other local Scouts who expect to attend should make reservations early, Chester R. Seymour, camp director, declared, since enrollment is increasing steadily.

West opened this deal with a pre-emptive bid of 4-Diamonds, which East properly passed, knowing his partner was showing a hand worthless except at diamonds and also was overbidding about two tricks to shut out the opponents. South bid 4-No Trumps, meaning this in the conventional and artificial sense employed by many players to force a take-out into some other suit, since a double of a pre-empt is used by them as intended to penalize the bid.

North thought South meant his bid literally, however, so passed, which infuriated South.

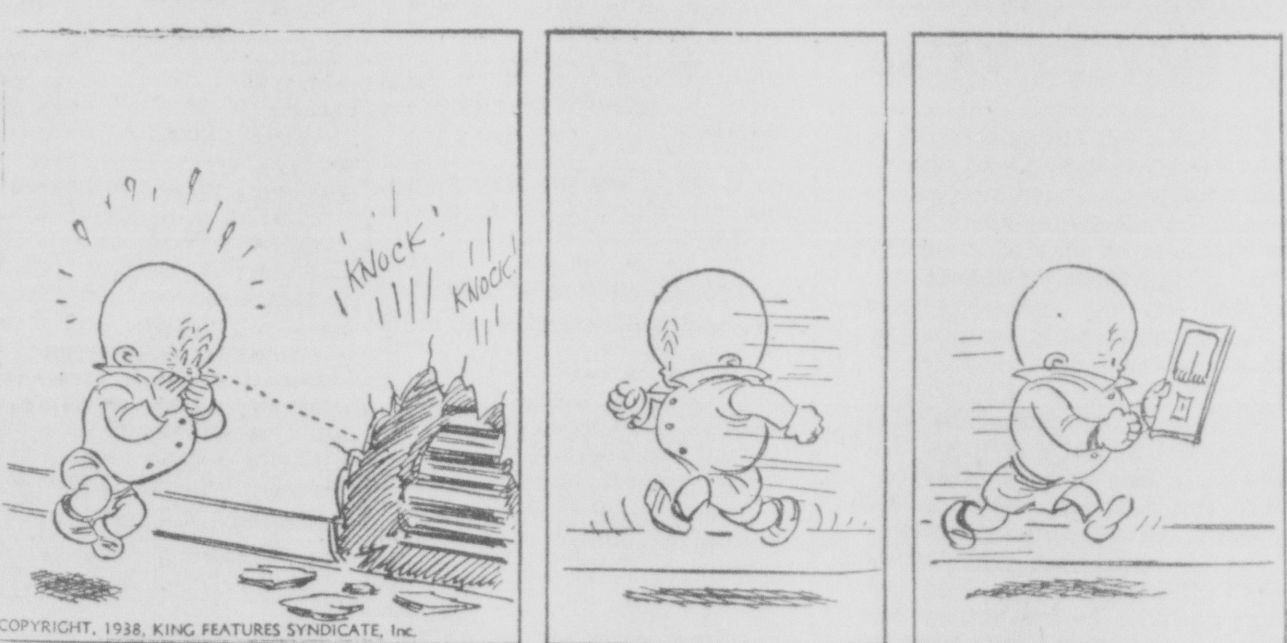

When West led the diamond K, South decided to get fancy. He discarded the spade A on that trick, next the K on the diamond Q and the spade Q on the diamond A. West then refused to lead into dummy's good diamond J, switching instead to the heart 8, won by the A. South saw that he had to win two finesses in clubs, so needed two entries to dummy. His only chance for these was first to finesse the spade 8, which worked. After cashing the diamond J and finessing the club 10, he overtook the spade 10 with the J, cashed two more spades, won another club finesse, then took in the A and 5 of clubs.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ARRANGES MEETING TO TALK CITY GOVERNMENT

ALLEN HELMS OF OHIO STATE TO TALK AT CONFAB

Service Clubs And Others Invited To Attend Noon Meeting Tuesday

Representatives of all service clubs and other interested citizens are invited to attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday noon when a discussion will be conducted of the city manager form of government. The meeting will be held in the American hotel coffee shop.

E. Allen Helms, of the department of political science at Ohio State university will be the speaker. Mr. Helms will talk on the advantages and disadvantages of the system as compared with other forms of municipal government. He is a authority on the city manager system. The entire meeting will be devoted to the discussion of city government.

Arrangements for an authority on various forms of city government to speak at a meeting of the organization was planned at the meeting on April 5. At that time several local residents discussed the city manager system and the organization voted to conduct an educational campaign on the question.

The city manager system of government has been discussed in Circleville on numerous occasions but no organization had ever sponsored a campaign to acquaint residents with its principles.

The Chamber of Commerce expects to obtain reports from cities using the system.

months later casting his lot with the U. S. S. Ranger in the Pacific fleet. He aided in the survey of the Pacific coast of Mexico and Central American between Mazatlan and Panama, until September, 1884, when he became a lieutenant, junior grade. He joined the U. S. receiving ship, Vermont, in the New York navy yard in February, 1885, for recruiting duty and remained until the end of March, 1886 when he went on the coast survey schooner, Scoresby, as senior assistant for the survey of natural oyster beds and introduction in oyster culture for the state of North Carolina.

The following September found him as an officer on the Essex in Chinese waters. Between 1886 and 1892 he served on the Brooklyn, flagship of the China station, again on the Essex, and then on the Vermont. During this period he served, too, as an instructor in physics and chemistry at the Naval academy and as a member of the class for instruction at the U. S. Naval War college, Newport, R. I. He became a full lieutenant in March, 1890.

Shipwrecked in 1892
In February, 1892, he was wrecked in the Kearsage, a ship which fought the famous battle with the Confederate cruiser, Alabama, off Cherbourg, France, in 1864. The wreck occurred on Roncador reef in the western part of the Caribbean sea. None of the 202 men on the ship was lost. In April following, he joined the Atlanta and in 1895 went on the receiving ship, Vermont, for recruiting duty, being detached in September the next year for duty as electrical assistant in the equipment department for the New York navy yard.

The next few years saw him serving on several ships in different capacities. He was promoted to lieutenant commander in March, 1899, and in June following took a detachment of officers and men aboard the U. S. transport Solace for duty in the Philippines.

On arriving in Manila in August he was sent to Hong Kong, China, by the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, as inspector of ordinance and equipment for the construction of three gunboats raised by Admiral Dewey after the battle of Manila Bay. He was ordered to the U. S. Naval station, Cavite, Philippine islands, in March, 1900, to organize the equipment department of that station, construct shops, etc. In June, 1901, he joined the Albany as executive officer for duty in the Mediterranean and returned to the United States in July, 1902. In May, 1904, he was ordered as commandant of the U. S. Naval station, Culebra, Puerto Rico, and as commanding officer of the U. S. S. Gloucester and U. S. S. Alliance. In December, 1905, he was promoted to the grade of commander.

He retired shortly after he served as equipment officer of the New York navy yard and as general inspector for the bureau of equipment, navy department, Washington, for vessel building at private shipyards on the Atlantic coast in 1906.

His widow is a daughter of the late Captain Boyd, of the U. S. navy.

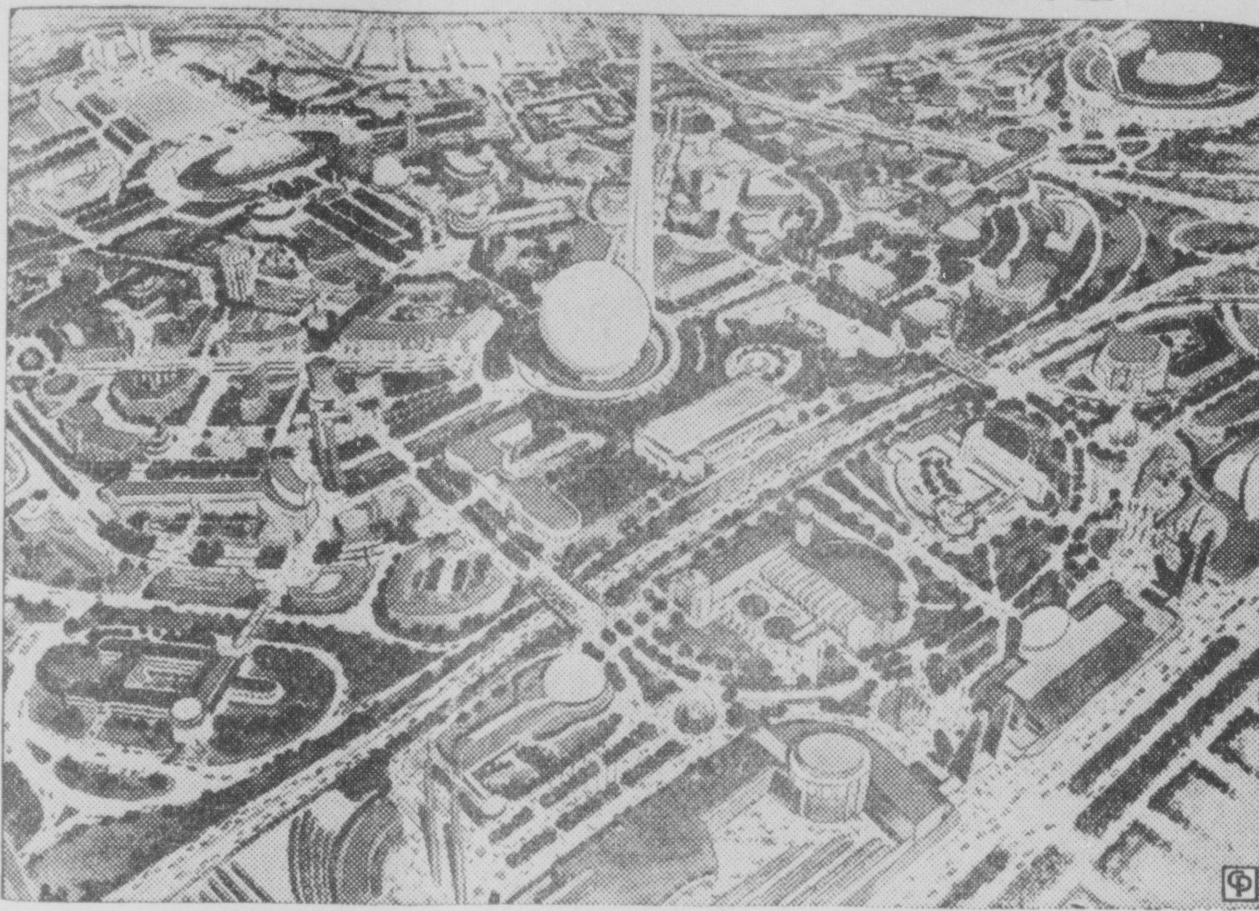

SPIREA CARE EXPLAINED; GRAPE VINES DISCUSSED

Around many Circleville homes, spirea has been permitted to grow unrestricted until now it is usurping the walks and a good part of the lawn. It is entirely safe to cut spirea back very severely now. It can be trimmed back to 20 to 24 inches from the ground leaving only bare sticks and with in two or three weeks it will have thrown out new shoots and will be in leaf again.

Such severe trimming helps to keep the plants bushy low to the ground and also promotes more bloom next year since the bloom occurs only on the group that this shrub makes after it has bloomed. The earlier blooming Spirea Billardi (double) and Spirea Arguta (single) should also be trimmed now. Trim all of them back to about 18 inches below the height you want them to grow during the Summer. All other early blooming shrubs can also be trimmed now and it is well to take a mattock and cut away the base shoots or sprouts from around your lilac bushes and you will have more bloom next year.

"Do not be in too big a hurry to trim back the shoots on your grape vines that have been damaged by the recent frosts for often a second set of bloom develops and this second crop may be the only grapes you will get this year."

No Decision Made

Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference yesterday that he had reached no decision yet on the proposed appointment of West.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has said publicly that West does not bear his endorsement.

West resigned yesterday as undersecretary of the interior after a stormy feud with Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Only last week, Ickes summarily ordered an "economy" broom applied to West's office in the interior building. Among those swept out were James Rohrer, West's brother-in-law, and four stenographers. The office furniture was moved to less pretentious quarters.

YOUTH TO FACE KIDNAP CHARGE IN MAY 23 TRIAL

DELAWARE, May 14—(UP)—John Joseph Deitch, 18, of Columbus, who has pleaded not guilty to charges of kidnaping, will go on trial here on May 23, Common Pleas Judge F. R. Wickham announced today.

Deitch pleaded guilty to an armed robbery charged filed by J. S. Davis, 22, of Dayton, an Ohio Wesleyan student. The kidnaping charge was brought by Miss Clara Mae Kerr, 22, Steubenville, and Charles Hopkins, 20, Lansing, Mich., Ohio Wesleyan students who alleged that Deitch forced them to drive him to Marion.

CATHOLIC WEEKLY URGES SEARCH FOR SCHUSCHNIGG

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 14—(UP)—The Wanderer, a Catholic weekly, said editorially today that Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria "has been driven to madness" and called on congress to find out where he is and what his captors intend to do with him.

"He has actually become insane—driven to madness by the terrible events of recent months," the editorial said.

Joseph Matt, Sr., editor, said the information was received from an Austrian correspondent who obtained it "by a devious route from a thoroughly reliable source."

growing, leaving no room for the brain to expand.

The decision to operate in this case came after a long study by Dr. D. D. V. Stuart, staff neurologist. He determined that the child's intelligence was normal for its age, but that he suffered occasional convulsions because of the skull's pressure on the brain.

Employing a new technique, Dr. Schoenfeld split the skull into halves on a line extending from points in front of both ears over the top of the head. He then inserted metal wedges to keep the opening 1½ centimeters (slightly more than ½ inch) wide. The membrane enclosing the brain was cut to allow it to expand to normal size.

Dr. Schoenfeld explained the bone would not grow over the opening, but that hard scar tissue gradually would fill up the space. It will resemble the original structure of the head and cause no harm to the child, he said.

A number of unsuccessful operations in which the skull was split lengthwise have been tried in the past. Such technique allowed the head to expand in breadth but not in length, considered normal in a child. Previous operations also failed to employ the technique of cutting the brain membrane or duramater.

THREE QUESTIONED FOR ALLEGED THEFTS OF GAS

Three men were being held by police Saturday for investigation of alleged gasoline thefts. They were Lloyd Crosby, 23; Charles Crosby, 19, and Harley Reed, 25, all of Walnut street. Reed is charged with reckless driving. He denied the charge and will have a hearing at 7 p. m. Saturday.

Officers said the three were arrested in the north end on a street extending from York street to Hayward avenue, after they had been chased from Park place. Two pieces of hose, a funnel and can were found in the auto in which they were riding, officers said.

were directed at the United States as a result of a recent speech by Secretary of War Harry Woodring warning the dictators that the democracies would fight if pressed too far. The significance of the exchange was diminished by the fact that Mussolini at the same time declared the new Italo-British treaty was everlasting; that Italy would be "faithful to her friendship with Germany and that there was hope—but not certainty—of a similar agreement with France.

Defeat, Success Mixed

In two other widely separated but important developments, the British-led campaign suffered one set-back and one success.

The danger of grave complications in Britain's relations with Japan hit a new high when a Japanese soldier bayoneted E. S. Wilkinson, an unarmed Briton, at Shanghai. The British ambassador was said to have been rebuffed by Japanese holding Wilkinson and, after his release, British residents threatened independent retaliation unless their government acted.

With Japanese armies reported successful in their offensive to cut the Lung-Hai railroad defense lines in the North and with scores of foreign residents endangered by the bombing of missions, the threat of further international complications was increased hourly in China.

A tentative triumph for Britain's efforts to prevent a war explosion in Nazi expansion through central Europe was reported in London in connection with the visit of Konrad Henlein, Czechoslovak Nazi leader, warned by government officials to "go easy" in German minority threats against the Prague government.

Henlein was said to have told Winston Churchill that he was opposed to any German effort to seize Czech territory. Such an attitude—if carried out—would indicate vast progress toward the peaceful solution of the Czech crisis.

Elsewhere along the international front:—

GENEVA — Spain and China charged that the big powers had betrayed them with "farical fiction" by refusing to act against aggressors, but they failed to win their fight for arms supplies.

SPAIN—Insurgent armies, continuing aerial bombardment of Mediterranean coastal cities, closed a trap on Spanish Loyalist troops in the Canada mountains as they straightened their front lines for a drive on Valencia.

HUNGARY—A new cabinet expected to act vigorously against Nazi groups was formed by Bela Imredy following resignation of Premier Koloman Daranyi.

BRAZIL — President Getulio

Vargas charged that the unsuccessful Fascist rebellion had foreign backing and was designed to implant "a new slavery" in Brazil.

TAX COLLECTION LAW PLAYED IN SUPREME COURT

Suit attacking the constitutionality of the Whittemore act which provides for the payment of delinquent taxes by installments and reduced the penalty and interest charges was filed Friday afternoon in the state supreme court.

In Pickaway county there are about 185 Whittemore contracts now in force. About 45 of the contracts were made on the last tax collection. Treasurer R. G. Colville estimates there have been about 250 contracts since the act became effective.

The suit was filed by Dudley Miller Outcalt, Hamilton county prosecutor. It was filed nine days after the court's invalidation of the Ogrin act, which permitted the refunds of penalties and interest charges on delinquent tax property.

Outcalt's action asked a writ of mandamus to compel the Hamilton county auditor and treasurer to collect all penalty and interest charges remitted under the Whittemore act in that county. He said they amount to $608,918.

Judge Robert N. Gorman of the supreme court dissented from the decision in the Ogrin act case because he contended that the Whittemore act embodied the same principles which were ruled unconstitutional.

MARGARET HOTT SEEKS DIVORCE; CRUELTY CITED

Mrs. Margaret Hott, Monroe township, filed suit for divorce, alimony and custody of children in Common Pleas court Friday against Clyde R. Hott, New Holland, R. F. D.

The petition charges cruelty. It says they were married June 3, 1916, in Circleville, and have six children, one over 21. A restraining order was allowed by Judge J. W. Adkins preventing the defendant from disposing of any personal property while the action is pending.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ARRANGES MEETING TO TALK CITY GOVERNMENT

ALLEN HELMS OF OHIO STATE TO TALK AT CONFAB

Service Clubs And Others Invited To Attend Noon Meeting Tuesday

Representatives of all service clubs and other interested citizens are invited to attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday noon when a discussion will be conducted of the city manager form of government. The meeting will be held in the American hotel coffee shop.

E. Allen Helms, of the department of political science at Ohio State university will be the speaker. Mr. Helms will talk on the advantages and disadvantages of the system as compared with other forms of municipal government. He is a authority on the city manager system. The entire meeting will be devoted to the discussion of city government.

Arrangements for an authority on various forms of city government to speak at a meeting of the organization was planned at the meeting on April 5. At that time several local residents discussed the city manager system and the organization voted to conduct an educational campaign on the question.

The city manager system of government has been discussed in Circleville on numerous occasions but no organization had ever sponsored a campaign to acquaint residents with its principles.

The Chamber of Commerce expects to obtain reports from cities using the system.

COUNTY HEALTH CLINIC TESTS 127 BOYS, GIRLS

Results of the tuberculosis clinic for county school pupils, conducted at the county health offices Thursday, were announced Saturday by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, health commissioner.

One hundred and twenty-seven pupils were given chest examinations and their x-rays studied by specialists of three sanatoria. The pupils were those whose skin tests showed positive reactions.

Out of the group 44 were discharged as negative, or having no active signs of tuberculosis. Eighty-three were advised to have examinations in periods ranging from six months to three years.

One pupil who has an active case was advised to take sanatorium treatment. The case, the department said, had not advanced to a stage where it showed any symptoms of the disease. Through the health program the pupil will get immediate treatment and has every assurance of regaining her health.

months later casting his lot with the U. S. S. Ranger in the Pacific fleet. He aided in the survey of the Pacific coast of Mexico and Central American between Mazatlan and Panama, until September, 1884, when he became a lieutenant, junior grade. He joined the U. S. receiving ship, Vermont, in the New York navy yard in February, 1885, for recruiting duty and remained until the end of March, 1886 when he went on the coast survey schooner, Scoresby, as senior assistant for the survey of natural oyster beds and introduction in oyster culture for the state of North Carolina.

The following September found him as an officer on the Essex in Chinese waters. Between 1886 and 1892 he served on the Brooklyn, flagship of the China station, again on the Essex, and then on the Vermont. During this period he served, too, as an instructor in physics and chemistry at the Naval academy and as a member of the class for instruction at the U. S. Naval War college, Newport, R. I. He became a full lieutenant in March, 1890.

Shipwrecked in 1892
In February, 1892, he was wrecked in the Kearsarge, a ship which fought the famous battle with the Confederate cruiser, Alabama, off Cherbourg, France, in 1864. The wreck occurred on Roncador reef in the western part of the Caribbean sea. None of the 202 men on the ship was lost. In April following, he joined the Atlanta and in 1895 went on the receiving ship, Vermont, for recruiting duty, being detached in September the next year for duty as electrical assistant in the equipment department for the New York navy yard.

The next few years saw him serving on several ships in different capacities. He was promoted to lieutenant commander in March, 1899, and in June following took a detachment of officers and men aboard the U. S. transport Solace for duty in the Philippines. On arriving in Manila in August he was sent to Hong Kong, China, by the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, as inspector of ordinance and equipment for the construction of three gunboats raised by Admiral Dewey after the battle of Manila Bay. He was ordered to the U. S. Naval station, Cavite, Philippine islands, in March, 1900, to organize the equipment department of that station, construct shops, etc. In June, 1901, he joined the Albany as executive officer for duty in the Mediterranean and returned to the United States in July, 1902. In May, 1904, he was ordered as commandant of the U. S. Naval station, Culebra, Puerto Rico, and as commanding officer of the U. S. S. Gloucester and U. S. S. Alliance. In December, 1905, he was promoted to the grade of commander.

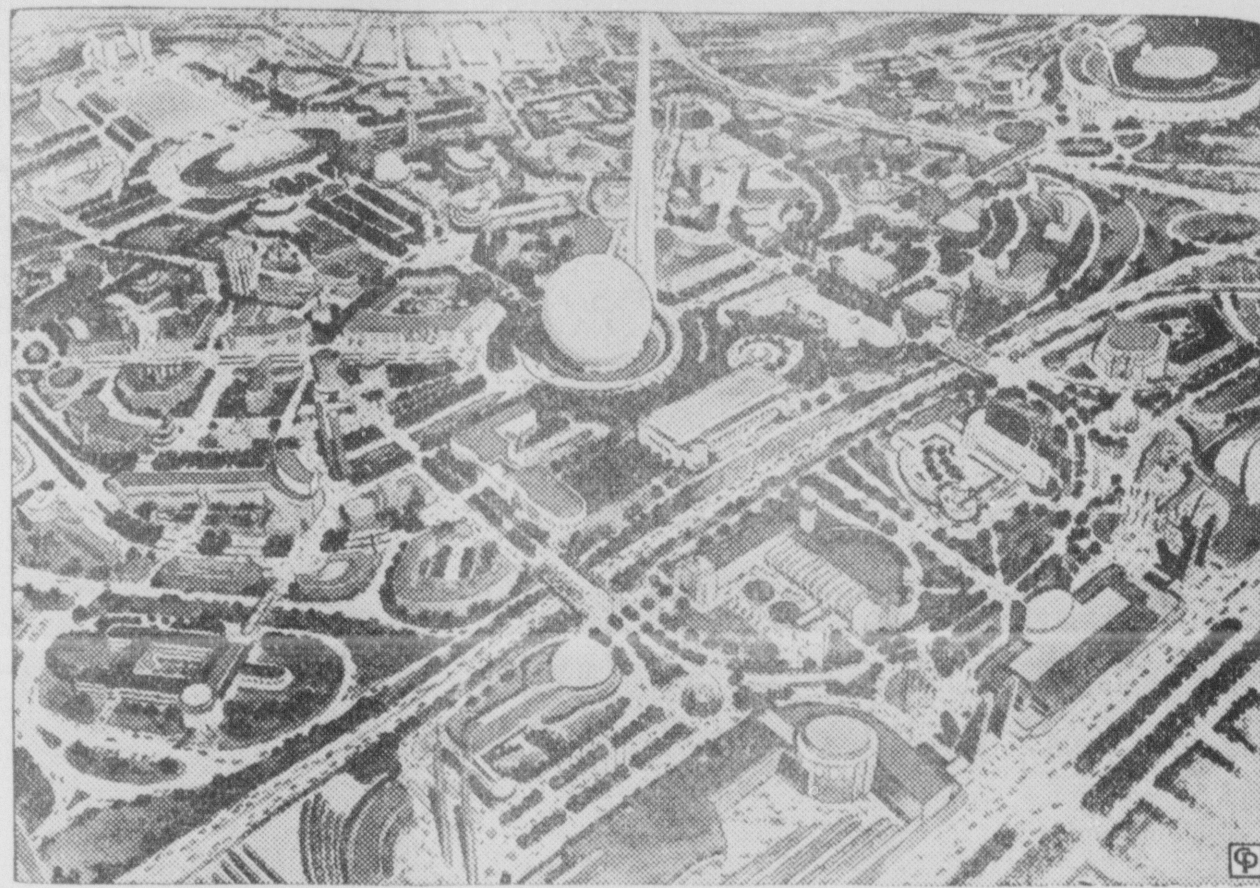

He retired shortly after he served as equipment officer of the New York navy yard and as general inspector for the bureau of equipment, navy department, Washington, for vessel building at private shipyards on the Atlantic coast in 1906. His widow is a daughter of the late Captain Boyd, of the U. S. navy.

SPirea CARE EXPLAINED; GRAPE VINES DISCUSSED
Around many Circleville homes, spirea has been permitted to grow unrestricted until now it is usurping the walks and a good part of the lawn. It is entirely safe to cut spirea back very severely now. It can be trimmed back to 20 to 24 inches from the ground leaving only bare sticks and without in two or three weeks it will have thrown out new shoots and will be in leaf again.

Such severe trimming helps to keep the plants bushy low to the ground and also promotes more bloom next year since the bloom occurs only on the group that this shrub makes after it has bloomed. The earlier blooming Spirea Billardi (double) and Spirea Arguta (single) should also be trimmed now. Trim all of them back to about 18 inches below the height you want them to grow during the Summer. All other early blooming shrubs can also be trimmed now and it is well to take a mattock and cut away the base shoots or sprouts from around your lilac bushes and you will have more bloom next year.

Do not be in too big a hurry to trim back the shoots on your grape vines that have been damaged by the recent frosts for often a second set of bloom develops and this second crop may be the only grapes you will get this year.
